Some Impressions of That State Gathered in A Recent Three Weeks Visit

5.

Friday morning was spent in an automobile drive around Lakeland which seemed rather tame after our delightful experience of the day before. We saw acres and acres of orange and grape fruit groves. We were guests that day of a bank president and in the course of conversation I learned that the local banks do not loan very much money on orange orchards. A rather significant fact it seems to me, when orange groves are said to yield 30 per cent profit.

Lakeland is in the western part of Polk County—Florida's largest inland city—"an all-year-round town" of about 10,000 population of permanent people in the summer and a generous share of tourists in the winter months. Lakeland is the center of the famous strawberry section of Polk County, and this, with the big citrus fruit groves and truck gardens and splendid sheet asphalt roads make for a very prosperous section of the county. Light and Water Plant in Lakeland is municipally owned, furnishes street lighting for the city and pays good return on investment. The Lakeland section also has several big phosphate mines, two large wholesale grocery houses which average close to 60 car loads of groceries per month; it has 29 miles of paved streets, more paved streets for its size than any city in the south.

After lunch we took our train for Orlando, the largest city of inland Florida, with a normal population of about 12,000 and increasing to 18,000 at the height of the season.

It is in the region containing the oldest orange groves of the state, and the center of the citrus industry.

It is a most beautiful city, with its streets lined with large oak trees, all draped with Spanish moss. There are 13 lakes within the city limits, and unless our driver took us to the same one on several different occasions, we saw them all. They are beautiful little sheets of water and the city is engaged in lining each one with a boulevard drive. The residences are most attractive and indicate that the city is highly prosperous.

I have never seen so many automobiles but once in my life (and that was on Michigan Avenue, Chicago), as I saw that afternoon in Orlando. Florida is said to have one automobile for every seven of its inhabitants and they must have all been in Orlando that day. It took over 130 to take care of our party, and yet, as we drove through the city, one could see nothing but automobiles. Automobiles parked two deep on each side of the street and a long line of machines moving in each direction as well.

We had a pleasant ride that afternoon and arrived at the Country Club for dinner in the early evening. This club, something like Brae Burn, gave us a fine spread, enlivened with music from the Royal Scotch Highlanders Band. The feature of the evening was an address by Irving Bacheller, the well-known author, who has a winter home at Winter Haven, a suburb of Orlando. At this banquet I also heard a letter read from Secretary of War John W. Weeks and learned that Mr. Weeks had lived for some years at Orlando and had married there.

Orlando, like other Florida cities, has two tax rates, one for the city and

RUMMAGE SALE

The Newton Welfare Bureau Thrift Shop is open each Wednesday, 9 to 12 A. M. and 2 to 6 P. M. at the Old Congregational Church, West Newton Square. This Shop will hold a permanent Rummage Sale for the benefit of the Newton Welfare Bureau. It will be three-fold in its usefulness.

First. It will increase the funds of the Welfare Bureau which has a long-established record of good work. Second. It gives to many people of limited means an opportunity to buy necessary articles of comfort and convenience at much lower prices than elsewhere.

Third. It affords an outlet for accumulated things in the household that have been outgrown or outworn, and that are no longer of use to the owner, that are no longer of use to the owner. Old pieces of furniture, carpets, magazines; in fact, anything that it is desirable to get rid of, will be gratefully received at the Shop in West Newton.

Donations will be sent for if the Welfare Bureau on Walnut street is notified by letter or by telephone.

Three Sales held in July showed very satisfactory results.

championship will be determined by the athlete getting the highest number of points in five different events. First place to count 5 points. Second place to count 3 points. Third place to count 1 point. Limit for all entrants in each class is to be five events.

ALDERMEN APPROVE PLANS

For Proposed New School at Newtonville, After Long Discussion

For the third time in the last month the aldermen held another near midnight meeting on Monday night on the problem of the new school building at Newtonville.

This time the meeting was called for the purpose of giving the architect some idea of what the aldermen would approve when the actual appropriation for construction was before them, as it would certainly be foolish to have the architect prepare plans and have bids obtained on a building which did not meet with aldermanic favor.

Like other features of this school house matter, it was again evident that the board hardly knew just what it did want and before the meeting was over, the aldermen first approved one plan, favored by the school committee, then rejected a resolution based on that plan and finally, cutting all known and unknown parliamentary corners, reconsidered part of its previous action and finally endorsed the plan recommended by the Buildings Committee.

Also like its previous meetings there was a round table discussion between members of the board and Chairman Everett E. Kent of the school committee.

Vice President Whidden presided in the absence of President Harriman and Aldermen Blake, Jewell, Phipps, Pratt and Young were also away.

The meeting of the board was preceded by a long committee meeting and the first business was consideration of a resolution presented by the Public Buildings Committee endorsing what was termed as Plan D. It appeared in the discussion that Plan A had been prepared on suggestions of the school committee Plan B on suggestion of Alderman Whidden, Plan C was a compromise of these, and Plan

D was an effort to retain the best features of Plan B and at the same time meet in part the desires of the school committee. It also appeared that the school committee was insisting that the new building must have separate rooms for exercise and an assembly hall, and Mr. Kent also insisted that the exercise room must be 15 feet in height and not less than 45 x 65 feet in floor space. Plan A gave two such areas, so arranged that they could be made into one room, after a fashion. Plan B gave one room to be used in a dual capacity for an assembly hall or exercise room. Plan C attached the double room of A onto the floor plan of B, but cut out two class rooms in so doing. Plan D gave separate rooms, as desired by the school committee but left the exercise room with 12 feet clearance, and both it and the assembly hall were but 40 x 58 feet in area, but so designed that they could both be doubled in size if deemed desirable, at an estimated additional cost of $30,000. Mr. Kent said that the school committee knew nothing of Plan D until that night and he strenuously objected to the 12-foot clearance in the exercise room, and, although not so insistently, on the small size of the assembly hall.

Mr. Kent figured that the 45 x 65 feet area would cost $16,380 while the 40 x 58 area would cost $9,744, a difference of about $6,636 (Mr. Kent neglected to double this amount for the second room), and that if it was merely a question of money, he would suggest that the board recall, if possible, its vote of some $8,000 for portable buildings at the Davis School and use this money on the new school building. Mr. Kent stated that the school ought to have a place for a weekly one for the county, the latter including the State tax. The city tax is 22 mills on a 60 per cent valuation, and the county tax is 11 mills on a 50 per cent valuation. A difference in valuation is a noticeable feature of the Floridian tax situation, and in another city I learned that it is done largely for the purpose of equalizing the assessment placed upon the county for State purposes, so that the more highly developed counties shall not pay such a heavy burden as would otherwise be incurred on a pro rata assessment on valuations throughout the State. My informant told me that he had a place valued at $12,000 on which he was assessed by the city (not Orlando) for 15 mills on a valuation of $8,000, while he paid a county assessment of 62 mills on a valuation of only $1,500. It is therefore evident that while 5 times 2 equals 10, and 2 times 5 equals 10, it may make some difference whether the 2 or the 5 is taken as a factor in making assessments for other purposes. I commend this simple fact to residents of Newton who are afraid of a high tax rate and do not appreciate the fact that a high valuation entails a larger State and county tax upon the city.

Orlando enjoys the distinction of being the center of one of the leading counties of the State in the production of citrus fruits. The very best of all varieties of oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines are produced in Orange County. The citrus-fruit industry of the county has had a remarkable growth during the past few years, and undoubtedly, during the 1919-20 season, 3,000 acres were set to citrus fruits. Over 125,000 acres of excellent citrus soil remains to be developed. Its winters are ideal. The average temperature is 64.5 degrees. The summers are pleasant, with cooling rains in the day time. The nights are delightful. The average temperature is 79 degrees.

Saturday morning we were driven about the suburbs of Orlando and witnessed a highly developed farming region. Our driver showed us one farm where he said four crops of lettuce and two of cucumbers had been raised the previous season. This was the first time we had heard of more than three crops being raised on the same land, and possibly there might have been a little Florida imagination in the statement.

I was considerably interested in passing through Ocoee (pronounced Oh-coy-ee) where the only election riot in the whole country took place last November. We were shown the ruins of several cottages which had been burned down and were told that 34 men had been killed or wounded that day. The trouble is said to have started when a drunken negro attempted to vote and found that he could not do so as he had failed to pay his poll tax—a necessary qualification in Florida. He made some talk and left the polling booth uttering dire threats. Later it was said, word came that he was organizing a band of negroes to take some kind of drastic action, and a few white men went to his house to remonstrate with him. As they came towards the house a shot was fired and one of the men was killed. A posse was immediately organized and the negro community about wiped out. It is said that no negro in that part of the county will admit even now that he knows anything about Ocoee. The day we were there it was a most peaceful scene, and we were greeted with orange juice and oranges in profusion. It is hard to realize sometimes how such things as riots can occur.

Our Orlando drive ended at Winter Park, the home of Mr. Bacheler, and a truly lovely spot. It was said to be the home of only the wealthy, and I could well believe it. Here, after more orange juice, we were met by a bevy of automobiles from Sanford and were soon on our way to that city, celebrated for its celery. I was fortunate in selecting a car driven by one of the best known men of that city and gathered considerable information. He told me that only the previous night 72 carloads of produce had been shipped from the town, and over 5,000 carloads would be shipped before July 1st. Last year the expense for transportation and refrigeration on Sanford shipments had been over two million dollars. This led to a discussion in which it appeared that the cost of transportation seems to be the principal difficulty of the future market for Florida products.

Sanford is surrounded by celery farms. Three crops are raised each year on the same land, celery, peppers and hay or celery, lettuce and corn. A celery farm calls for a large sum for investment as the land must be irrigated at a cost of $800 an acre. But there is a fine profit if crop and market conditions are good. For while it costs $800 an acre to put celery on the cars, the gross profits on a 25-acre farm will total $95,000 and a net profit of $50,000. These are war-time prices. In addition to the celery the farmer also has the other crops noted, and 4 acres of peppers are said to yield $2,780 a year.

The celery is not bleached with earth as it is done in the market gardens around here, but is covered with a black paper, said to come from Massachusetts. The celery belt contains some 15,000 acres, and we heard conflicting reports about it, one person telling us that only 20 per cent of available land being now in use, while another person said that all the land where water can be obtained for irrigation, is under cultivation.

On our return to the city we took the train once more, this time for Deland, a neighboring city, where the inevitable automobiles were in waiting. Our first stop was in a pretty little park, where for the first time in many years of traveling around different parts of this country and in Canada, I really enjoyed a barbecue. It was served in cafeteria fashion and was most appetizing. Following the barbecue we drove for 10 miles to De Leon spring, a remarkable freak of nature, thousands of gallons of water bubbling up every moment. Many of our party went in bathing and found the water cold but refreshing. It is said to be the same temperature winter or summer.

On our return to the city we spent the rest of the afternoon and evening as we pleased. To me the most interesting sight was the throngs in the business streets, it was Boston in miniature in that respect. There were many negroes out for the evening, and I saw more of that race that night than in all the rest of the trip.

The Commercial Club of the city furnished an entertainment and program that evening, but most of us had been rather fed up on that sort of when schools are closed. People who are acquainted with conditions that exist in that district, which is so thickly populated, can well see the need of such a place, and undoubtedly will support the idea and co-operate with the general committee to make these plans a success.

THE NEWTON COMMUNITY HOUSE

At the residence of Rev. A. Virgess Hill, 1445 Washington street, West Newton, on May 27, 1921, a number of men met and organized themselves into a body to do civic, educational and charitable work under the name of the Newton Community House. The purpose of this house is to better the social conditions in the Newtons. This house will have attached to it an Employment Bureau, Boy Scouts, Sewing Circles for girls, Literary Classes and a Library. We purpose to broaden and deepen the spirit of co-operation and brotherly love; furthermore, we want to aid the education of boys and girls, enabling them to get the most out of their lives, thereby contributing something to human life. We would not attempt to do this work, but we have seen that the needs are great. Youths in possession of talent and personality simply need directing and development, and we feel that the work of this Community House will meet that situation. We are asking for the co-operation of all in the Newtons. As the operation of such a house in the community cannot but help to make a better community, we would like the people of this community to help us to purchase this house because it is going to serve the community for the best interest.

Nothing pays a bigger dividend on small investment than politeness.

ANOTHER PLAYGROUND WANTED

Through the initiative of a few leading Italians of the Nonantum district of this city plans to secure a public playground in that locality are well under way.

Last week the general committee appointed four teams to carry on a campaign to raise $5,000 by public subscription among the citizens of Newton.

It is proposed that the playground will be on the west side of Hawthorne street, Newton, where there are about three acres of vacant land, and where it will be in the center of the Italian colony. Some of the owners of the land have voluntarily offered their land for such a purpose at a minimum price, which has encouraged the leaders of this proposal to carry out these plans.

His Honor, the Mayor, and Mr. Hermann, Superintendent of Playgrounds, have already expressed their approval and pledged their co-operation to such a worthy cause. The chairman of the general committee, Mr. John Finelli, who conceived the idea, is a young attorney in that district, and is urging all his friends to make the idea possible, and is asking their financial support.

It is obvious that a playground in that locality is of urgent need, for there are over 1,500 children in that neighborhood without a place to divert themselves, especially at this time

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Arthur M. Harvey and Marion G. Harvey, his wife, in her right, to Anna K. Berg, dated May 4, 1920, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 4348, Page 205, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder by assignment from Anna K. Berg dated August 11, 1920, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 4398, Page 312, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at Public Auction at three o'clock P. M., on Wednesday, the seventeenth day of August, A. D. 1921, on the granted premises all and singular the premises described in said mortgage.

To wit:
"The land with the buildings thereon situated in that part of Newton in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts called Newton Centre, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point on the Westerly side of Morton street, at the North-easterly corner of lot 3 on a plan hereinafter referred to, thence running Westerly by said lot 3 and by lot 4 on said plan, one hundred sixty-nine and 40/100 (169.40) feet; thence running Northerly by lot 7 on said plan, eighty-six and 65/100 (86.65) feet; thence running Easterly by lot one on said plan, one hundred sixty and 80/100 (160.80) feet to Morton street; thence running Southerly by said Morton street, eighty-five (85) feet to the point of beginning.

Containing 14,133 square feet of land more or less and being lot two on a "Plan of Land in Newton Centre belonging to Alfred F. Morse drawn by E. S. Smilie, Surveyor" dated February, 1896, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book of Plans 152, Plan 38.

Being the same premises conveyed to me by Anna Berg by deed of even date to be recorded herewith, and said premises are conveyed subject to a prior mortgage of $7,000 given by said grantors to the Newton Savings Bank to be recorded herewith."

Terms of sale:
Said premises will be sold subject to any and all unpaid taxes and assessments, tax sales and tax titles if any there are, three hundred dollars in cash will be required to be paid by the purchaser at the time and place of sale.

Other terms to be announced at the sale.
AUGUSTUS A. FALES,
Present holder of said mortgage.

assembly of the whole school and for regular gatherings of smaller portions of the pupils. He said that classes of 50 pupils would use the exercise room every period during the school day.

Alderman Whidden suggested that there was some danger that neither of the first three plans could be built for the limit of $325,000 set by the board and might well cost $25,000 more.

After a long discussion, Alderman Carter's motion to substitute Plan C for the recommendation of the committee was approved by a vote of 9 to 5. This was followed by a discussion which really ought to have been had previous to that vote, in which Aldermen Heathcote and Whidden called attention to the additional expense in the first instance and to the fact that Plan C placed the toilets and showers in a dark and undesirable part of the basement, away from the light and air.

These arguments were so forceful that the board rejected the resolution as amended and it seemed as if the whole evening had been wasted.

Alderman Whidden, however, allowed a motion to reconsider the approval of Plan C to be made, although the resolution itself had been defeated, and when reconsideration prevailed, had the original resolution, with a slight amendment by Alderman Nichols, approved by a voice vote with a few members voting in the negative.

The board was also called to consider what disposition should be made of the Roger Wolcott school building at Waban and Alderman Rogers tried to have it recalled from the Finance Committee where it had been tabled.

Alderman Carter objected, however, on the ground that it might be well to wait until people had returned in the fall and Mr. Rogers' motion was defeated.

The resolution as adopted reads as follows:
Resolved:
In regard to the new school-house to be built on lot between Walnut and Crafts streets, Newtonville, for the partial appropriation for the purchase of land and architect's commission were made by the Board of Aldermen in July, 1921, it is the opinion of this Board that this building should be designed and planned so that it may be used efficiently either as a grade school or as a Junior High school according to the determination of the School Committee.

Plans of the proposed school building as shown by studies submitted by Mr. Edmund I. Leeds, of Brainerd, Leeds and Kellogg, architects, under authority of His Honor the Mayor, and blue prints of which are herewith attached, are recommended to His Honor the Mayor with this Board's endorsement.

His Honor the Mayor is respectfully petitioned to instruct the architects to proceed with all due speed to complete the plans and specifications of the proposed school-house in accordance with the studies which have been herein considered and, in proper order, to have estimates made of the cost of the complete buildings and for all grading of the grounds and furnishings of the building as nearly as may be to the first day of October, next, to the end that the building may be made ready for occupancy under control of the School Committee in September, 1922.

GARDEN NEWS STORY

One of the most persistent enemies of the home garden is witch grass or quack grass. This seed propagates by means of root stalks as well as by seed.

The first principles that are recognized in attempting its eradication, are to prevent the plants from maturing seed and starve out the underground root stalks by preventing them from sending up any stems or leaves above the surface. This purpose can only be accomplished by means of thorough and frequent cultivation. Occasional stirring of the soil only serves to stimulate and spread the growth of the witch grass.

To kill the root stalks, as many of the roots as possible should be exposed to the sunlight by turning the ground over with a shovel or heavy hoe. A thorough job of cultivating should follow this process just as often as green shoots begin to appear above the surface of the ground. This should be continued until long after the garden crops are harvested, in order to discourage the plants from getting a start late in the fall.

Next spring, even before plowing, it is important to continue the surface cultivation to stop the green shoots from appearing above the ground. This should be followed by very deep plowing and a continuation of the frequent cultivation. Witch grass makes vigorous growth in late fall and early spring and it is the surface cultivation which is carried on after the harvest and before the planting that does more than anything else to prevent its getting a start the second year.

It is also important to watch quack grass which may be growing near the edge of the garden. This should be prevented from developing seeds to the point where they will germinate so that it should be cut frequently. This statement applies not only to witch grass but also to every other garden weed which sometimes flourishes along the edges of the garden. They should be cut off several times during the season before they go to seed, in order to prevent spreading into the garden to grow next year.

BEST SELLERS

Fiction

The newcomers to the list of the library's eight titles among the best-selling fiction are three in number: "Alice Adams," "The Profiters," and "The Little Red Foot." The latest Chambers title is being acclaimed by the reviewers in a fashion surprising to a book public that has become accustomed to seeing Chambers dismissed as a pot-boiler potentate. "The Kingdom Round the Corner" is being lengthily reviewed, and, for the most part, favorably. "Mysterious Rider" following Zane Grey Week has improved its position on the list. It has appeared on all best-selling lists since February. "Alice Adams" should show greater strength than any recent Tarkington title, so agreeably have the critics received it.

1. Main Street, by Sinclair Lewis.
2. Alice Adams by Booth Tarkington.
3. The Profiters, by E. Phillips Oppenheim.
4. The Mysterious Rider, by Zane Grey.
5. The Brimming Cup, by Dorothy Canfield.
6. Sister Sue, by Eleanor H. Porter.
7. The Kingdom Round the Corner by Jennings Dawson.
8. The Little Red Foot, by Robert W. Chambers.

Non-Fiction

A correspondent, a dramatist, a biographer, a journalist, a poet, and a novelist have provided the month's best sellers in non-fiction. Will Irwin, if the opening demand should hold, may possibly duplicate Bernhard's famous coup. It will be interesting to watch the progress of the Shaw book, published ten days earlier. The publishers might, apparently, have asked twenty dollars, instead of ten, for the Wells "Outline." It is the hardy annual of the non-fiction list.

1. The Next War by Will Irwin. JQ-19
2. Back to Methuselah by George Bernard Shaw. YD-S53 b
3. Queen Victoria by Lytton Strachey. F4566-S89
4. When Day is Done by Edgar A. Guest. YP-G93 w
5. Ballads of a Bohemian by Robert W. Service. YP-S49 b
6. The Outline of History by H. G. Wells. F-W46

DOUBLE CELEBRATION

In celebration of their 41st wedding anniversary and his 70th birthday, a reception was tendered last Friday afternoon to Dr. and Mrs. William Frederick Slocum by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice B. Blscoe, 595 Boylston street, Newton Highlands. Dr. and Mrs. Slocum recently returned to Newton after a long residence in Colorado, where for 30 years Dr. Slocum was president of Colorado College. They are building a home on Dudley road and plan to reside permanently in the town where Dr. Slocum spent much of his youth. His brother, the late Winfield S. Slocum, was for 30 years city solicitor of Newton.

Many old friends were present at the reception, including Colorado College alumni, resident in Boston and vicinity, Amherst College classmates and friends and former Boston and Newton neighbors.

During the war Dr. Slocum was an active member of the executive committee of the League to Enforce Peace. Recently he was active in the Amherst College drive for $3,000,000, and succeeded in raising the $75,000 necessary to complete the total. He holds the degree of LL.D., conferred by Harvard University. He is a member of "The Tavern Club" in Boston, and "The Century Association" in New York.

SUMMER SESSION

The following students from Newton and vicinity have registered for courses at the Summer Session of Boston University: James R. Church, Biology; Charles F. Hurley, Business English and Business Methods; Margaret P. Magoley, Business English; and Earl K. Peterson, Business Methods, Finance and Psychology; Philip H. DEATH OF MR. BARRETT

Mr. Frederic A. Barrett, a resident of Newtonville for the past 25 years, died last week Wednesday at his home on Washington park at the age of 53 years. Mr. Barrett was born in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., and was a printer by trade. He came to Boston in 1894 and for over 25 years was employed as a compositor by the Boston Globe. He was a deacon in the Universalist Church and a member of the Globe Relief Association and of the Boston Typographical Union No. 13, and of the Printers' Mutual Relief Association.

He is survived by his widow and three children, Ralph L., Aldyth L., and Freda Barrett.

Funeral services were held from his late home on Saturday afternoon and were largely attended by neighbors and friends. Rev. Dr. George E. Huntley of Cambridge officiated and the interment was in the Newton Cemetery.

LAND COURT.

To Edward C. Street, Harriet B. Cardell, Arthur E. Snyder and Mildred J. Snyder, of Newton, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth; and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by J. Abbott Clark, of Somerville, in said County of Middlesex, to register and confirm his title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land situate in said Newton, bounded and described as follows:
Southwesterly by Waban Avenue one hundred and four (104) feet; Northwesterly by land now or formerly of Arthur E. Snyder et al, one hundred fifty and 23/100 (150.23) feet; Northeasterly by land now or formerly of Edward C. Street, one hundred (100) feet; and Southeasterly by land now or formerly of Harriet B. Cardell, one hundred forty five and 74/100 (145.74) feet.

The above described land is shown on plan No. 142B filed with the Land Court and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the twenty-second day of August, A. D. 1921, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

EDITORIAL

One significant statement was made Monday night by Chairman Kent of the School Committee which may well be pondered by our city fathers. Appropriations of raising $8000 have just been made by the aldermen for portable school buildings at the Davis school, West Newton, on the argument that they were absolutely necessary. And yet Mr. Kent suggests that this money might now be diverted towards the additional expense he wishes incurred in the new Junior High School. Either the money was needed at the Davis school or it was not needed. If it was needed, Mr. Kent is apparently willing to sacrifice the children attending the Davis school in order to have a 16 foot head room for an exercise room at the new building and if it is not needed, as Mr. Kent's suggestion now implies, the school committee should be called upon to explain.

We trust we have not been misunderstood in our attitude towards the proposed introduction of the Junior High School plan in this city. We did not intend to express any opinion regarding that system from an educational standpoint. It may be most advantageous in many ways. But we do believe that the present is not the time to take any action which would involve any additional burden on the tax payers, and we have opposed the new school building at Newtonville on that ground alone. The present congested condition of our schools can well be met by the use of portable buildings and let us mark time financially until the present critical tax situation has passed.

While the aldermen state in their resolution that the new school building at Newtonville should be so planned as to be available either as a grade school or as a Junior High School at the determination of the school committee, there will be no question but what it will be used as a Junior High School and for nothing else.

The playground concerts under the auspices of the Newton Circle, Inc., come to an end next Thursday evening at Newton Centre. The ladies of this organization deserve the hearty thanks of all our citizens for their god work in providing an entertainment and an encouragement of the community spirit in this way.

NORUMBEGA PARK

The mid-summer's stage attractions at Norumbega Park for the coming week seem to grow better in quality as the season progresses. The vaudeville acts are the best than can be secured, and the cost is a secondary consideration with the management.

The show in the theatre for this week will contain the following high-class variety acts as Bixley & Loretta, comedy acrobats; Nevins & Mayo, musical comedy selections; Haskell, Benson Co., comedy variety sketch artists; Princeton & Irwin, a comedy musical act.

For the first three days the feature photoplay will be Thomas Ince's production of the super variety, "The Bronze Bell." For the last three days will be shown that round comedian, "Fatty" Arbuckle, in "The Travelling Salesman." Arbuckle ought to be the scream of his career in this picture, as its run as a stage show a few years ago at the Park Theatre, consumed nearly half a season.

NEWTON OPERA HOUSE

Mae Murray, famous Paramount star and dancer, has been provided with a picture story of great dramatic power which was especially written for her by Clara Beranger. It is "The Gilded Lily," and it will be the feature attraction at the Newton Opera House Monday and Tuesday next.

The story fits Miss Murray like a glove and presents her in the role in which she first became famous—a dancer. All of the scenes are laid in New York.

The two leading roles are played by Lowell Sherman, as the New York man-about-town, and Jason Robards, as the country boy. Others in the cast include Thurlow Bergen, Leonora Ottinger and Mrs. Pauline Dempsey.

READ FUND PICNIC

The program for the Read Fund Picnic to take place on August 27th on the Burr Playground is now being arranged. It will probably be printed in the coming Friday issue of the Newton papers. The children of Newton Corner, so called, ought to watch the papers carefully in order to find out what they have to do to secure the necessary tickets.

GARDEN NEWS STORY

Nearly all plants of the garden may be attacked by some species of aphids or plant lice. They are usually so small and feed in such protected places that their presence is unknown until they have done considerable damage. They feed by sucking the plant juices from stems or leaves by means of a jointed beak which penetrates the surface and pierces the cell beneath. These lice reproduce themselves very rapidly, having from ten to fifteen generations during the season.

Because of their method of feeding they cannot be controlled by stomach poisons. Spraying must be done which will kill them by contact. As lice almost always feed on the underside of the leaves, spraying must be directed toward that surface. Only those lice which are actually hit by the spray will be killed.

Nicotine Sulphate 40 per cent, which is frequently sold under the trade name of "Black Leaf 40", is the most satisfactory spray for destroying aphids. This should be used at the rate of two teaspoonfuls to one gallon of water. In order to make this spray stick well to the foliage it is a good plan to dissolve one ounce of laundry soap in a little warm water and add it to the solution. This spray may safely be used in combination with other sprays, such as Bordeaux Mixture and Arsenate of Lead. In such cases soap should not be used. Whale or fish oil soaps are very effective in destroying plant lice, using one-half pound to three gallons of water.

All weeds in the garden should be destroyed in order that they may not offer breeding places for the aphids. Certain kinds of weeds are known to be food plants for many species of plant lice.

NEW LOCATION OF BROOKS-SKINNER CO.

The Brooks-Skinner Co., who are probably the best known firm of garage builders in New England, have just purchased two acres of land on Adams street, Quincy, Mass.

This land is now being laid out in the most attractive manner for the display of garages, bungalows, cottages, etc., both wood and steel.

This new location is on the main road from Boston to Nantasket, and near the East Milton Station on Adams street.

There are many favorable comments made by passing tourists of this wonderful display of buildings.

There are already twelve buildings erected and more in process of erection.

It is very gratifying to the management of the Brooks-Skinner Co. at this time to know that their factories are running to capacity, and that their production this year will be larger than in any year since this old concern started in business.

A visit to this Exhibit is well worth while to anyone who intends to build either portable or permanent buildings in the near future.

DEATH OF MR. WOODBURY

Mr. Edwin S. Woodbury, a resident of Newtonville for the past nine years, died on Wednesday at his home on Walnut street after an illness of a few weeks. Mr. Woodbury was born in Boston and was in his 72nd year. He was educated in the Boston schools and at Tilton Academy at Tilton, N. H.

He entered business in Boston and became a manufacturer of shoes, retiring from that business about 10 years ago. He was prominent in Masonic circles, being a past commander of Knights Templars and a director of the Masonic Home. He was first vice president of the Dorchester Savings Bank and was actively concerned in the affairs of the bank up to the time of his illness. Mr. Woodbury was a vigorous worker in church circles, being a member of Central Congregational Church and a director in several church societies. He belonged to the Central Club, the Albemarle Golf Club and the Newton Club. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Edwin P. Cawse of Newtonville and Mrs. William Lindsay of Oregon.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at his late residence 613 Walnut street.

A BIG CONTRACT

Government departments have agreed to save at least $112,512,628.00 out of their appropriations for the current fiscal year beginning July 1, last. This represents the initial work performed by the new Budget Bureau under the direction of General Dawes. The Budget Bureau began to function July 1, and since that time, General Dawes and his staff have worked day and night in company with heads of various departments and bureaus seeing where savings could be made out of appropriations already voted by Congress for the current year. The sum of $112,512,628.00 is only the preliminary estimate. It is believed the savings out of appropriations for the current year will be even greater.

The administration is assured by this showing that when bureaus are reorganized and economic and business-like methods are established, the savings in the operating expenses of the government will be equal to the most sanguine estimates of at least a million dollars a day.

NEWTON Y. M. C. A. BASEBALL

The local Y. M. C. A. team is going strong these days and is out for the City championship. Last Saturday on the West Newton Playground they took the Newton K. of C. team into camp to the tune of 6 to 3. Effective pitching by Lonnegan for the Y. team who allowed but four scattered hits and striking out 13 men together with the hard hitting and tight fielding by his team kept the Y. M. C. A. team out of danger throughout the game. Pierotti, Adams, Haynes and Wilson did the bulk of the hitting while the others played a strong defensive game.

Tuesday night on the North Brighton Playground the Y. M. C. A. team played the fast Homestead A. A. of Allston winning a 7-inning game by a 2 to 1 score. This was one of the best games this season, breaking the long winning streak of the Homestead A. A., who had not lost a game during the season. Barnes was on the mound for Newton Y. and turned in a fine evening's work, allowing but 3 scattered hits and striking out seven men. His steady pitching coupled with air-tight fielding by his teammates was responsible for holding down the Homestead score. McKenny the all-scholastic twirler of Brighton High was on the hill for Homestead. He also did a fine piece of work, allowing but four hits and striking out 10 men. His undoing came in the 5th inning when Trulson walked, stole second, Thomson scoring him on a drive over second, and later scored when Pierotti stepped into one for the winning run. It was a well-played game throughout, and the team deserves credit for winning from such a strong outfit.

Saturday the team will go to Framingham to play the fast Saxonyville team. Lonnegan will twirl for Newton and ought to turn in another win. The Y. team is anxious to meet all teams in a game or series of games for the City title, including the Legion, Newton Highlands A. A., Upper Falls and other contenders. Saxony has been booked for Sept. 10 for the opening game. For dates call the Y. M. C. A.

"Constructor of Homes"

CORDIALLY INVITES YOU TO INSPECT

FOUR NEW SINGLE HOMES

At FAIR OAKS PARK, California Street, NEWTONVILLE

The above company organized in an endeavor to put on the market Homes, Distinctive in Design, constructed as they should be, and by quantity production, at reduced cost, now has four new homes nearing completion.

The designs are individual in type and have entrance hall, full length living room finished in gumwood, with open fireplace, paneled dining rooms, sanitary kitchens and pantries well fitted with cabinets, finished in white enamel, four bed rooms and tiled baths with built-in fixtures.

From the ground up they are built for warmth and to last. Solid concrete foundations under porches as well as main buildings, new matched rough boarding and outside heating plants. Oak floors in all halls, living, dining and bed rooms. Battleship linoleum floors in kitchens and pantries. Gas ranges with Lorain Heat Regulators. Riverside Stack Storage System of continuous hot water, copper screens.

Situated in beautiful American neighborhood, surrounded with full grown trees, with large lots on finished streets.

By quantity production and labor saving machinery we are able to sell at prices from 15 to 40 per cent less than last fall prices.

Representative on grounds week days and Sundays. Evenings by appointment. Telephone Newton North 3126.

The Dignity of Thrift

THE man who saves his money shows respect for himself and for the work of his brain and his hands. There is dignity in thrift, there is independence and escape from the fear of want. Other things being equal, the man or woman who saves steadily is the happier for it and more valuable to the community. To such people this institution extends its facilities.

Before continuing our journey down the East Coast, it may be of interest to state a few facts regarding oranges and grapefruit.

The orange is supposed to have originated in tropical India, under the shadow of the Himalaya mountains in the valley of the Ganges.

As compared with some others, the orange may be considered something of a modern fruit, its development being traceable only during the Christian era.

The grape, olive, fig and pomegranate are frequently spoken of in the Bible, but the orange is not mentioned.

Tradition has it that the natives of India brought the orange out into the open from the dense tropical jungles, and under care and sunshine it developed. The tree grew in size and the branches spread, the buds developed, and the roots went deeper; and the golden fruit we know began to take an important place in the requirements of mankind.

The present perfection of the orange has been reached only after centuries of study and experimentation by many people of many nations. The fifth century finds the first record of the orange in Europe. A little later writers mention it in Central China and Java. From there it was carried to Spain, doubtless by the Spanish adventurers whose ships explored the East Indies.

There is no historic record of the fact, but it is presumed that the orange was first brought to America by Pedro Menendez de Aviles, who founded St. Augustine, Florida, in 1565.

The orange industry of Florida doubtless had its beginning at this time, though when Florida was taken over from the Spaniards something like 250 years later, the orange groves of St. Augustine had not made very remarkable progress. The Spaniards of the time were rather prone to beat their ploughshares and pruning hooks into swords, and agricultural and horticultural pursuits suffered in consequence.

After all these centuries came the discovery that the best oranges cannot be reproduced from the planting of their own seeds. It took many hundreds of years to learn that in order to obtain oranges of best quality the seed of the sour orange and lemon or the grapefruit must be planted and permitted to take root for two or three years, when the top may be cut back and the bud stock of a perfect producing orange tree budded upon the old, vigorous roots. Following two more years growth in the nursery of the new top, the perfected tree, then from four to six feet in height, is ready for transplanting into the grove.

Not only do budded trees produce fruit of superior quality, but they are generally more prolific than seedling trees. They mature and bear fruit much sooner after transplanting than do seedling trees. They possess another advantage in being of lower and more compact growth, so that fruit grown upon them is more easily and economically picked.

DEATH OF LIEUT. SCHUYLER ADAMS

Lieut. Schuyler Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Adams, of 22 Lenox street, West Newton, died from an accident at the Maine General Hospital, August 10. Lieut. Adams was on his way to join his parents at Camp Taconnet, Belgrade Lakes, Maine, where he was to spend a few days before leaving to join the fleet on the Pacific coast. He reached Portland at 3 A. M., on the Bar Harbor Express, and registered at the West End Hotel, and left a call for 5.30 which he answered and was seen in the hallway about 6 A. M. At 7 o'clock, Dennis Flinn, an employee of the Cumberland County Light and Power Co., in passing the hotel, heard a scream and looking up saw the screen give way and a man fall backward from a fourth-story window. Mr. Adams was taken to the Maine General Hospital where he died at 11 A. M.

Schuyler Adams was born in Newburyport 28 years ago and had lived in Newton about 25 years. He was a Harvard graduate class 1916, being a member of the Harvard Hockey team in 1914, a lieutenant in the air force of the U. S. Navy, was an instructor at the Naval training camp, Norfolk, Va., and was highly thought of by his fellow officers, being a most careful and expert aviator.

He is survived by his parents and by three sisters, Mrs. Hubert L. Carter of West Newton, Mrs. Samuel F. Holmes of Worcester, and Miss Katherine Adams of Cleveland.

Services conducted by the Rev. Richard T. Loring were held this afternoon at the Mt. Auburn Chapel and cremation was at the Mt. Auburn Crematorium.

PLAYGROUND NEWS

The Athletic Meet and Field Day with Concert which was scheduled for Wednesday, August 17, has been postponed to all day, August 24, on Newton Centre Playground.

Mr. William F. Garcelon and other well-known leaders in athletics, and members of the Playground Commission have consented to be the officials of the meet.

Folk Dance Demonstration and Competition—Each village playground district will send a good-sized crowd of children and young girls for this demonstration. These children from all over Newton will simultaneously demonstrate a number of folk dances.

The youngsters are making their own costumes, caps, and sashes of crepe paper and will present a very beautiful picture on the large green field of the Newton Centre Playground with its wonderful setting of willow trees.

Couple Dancing Competition—Open to any couple in Newton. Several couple dances have been taught this summer. They are adaptations from American folk dances. Prizes are offered for the most graceful couple in each dance.

Health League Winners. The Newton Welfare Bureau will present the special prizes offered for the best work done during the summer, and also have an exhibition of the work they have done.

Mother Craft—Together with the presentation of prizes in health work there will be a demonstration of Mother Craft work and presentation of diplomas.

His Honor, Mayor Childs, will present the prizes and diplomas.

There will be tournaments in Football, Croquet, Quoits, Dodge-Ball and an exhibition of Handwork from all playgrounds.

BUREAU OF HOUSEHOLD OCCUPATION

Must Have Support if It Is to Be Continued This Fall

Many are asking if the Bureau of Household Occupation will re-open in September. The Committee appointed to conduct the Bureau reports as follows:

Over eight hundred letters were sent out in June to employers who had received service, and to interested friends of the Bureau, asking for three dollars ($3.00) membership fees for one year's service. It was hoped, inasmuch as 1107 people had received benefit from the Bureau, half of whom were employers, that at least 300 replies would be received favorable to the continuance of the service.

Up to August 1st only 64 answers were received. Clearly, it is not the wish of the Community to have this work continued. The Bureau cannot be run on $192.00. The services of a paid secretary are necessary. Office rent and telephone service must be paid, also some expense for printing, advertising and postage.

The conclusion of the Committee is that unless at least 300 subscribers at three dollars each can be obtained, the Bureau of Household Occupation can not continue. It is a matter of regret that at least $100.00 is still unpaid by employers who have had service from the Bureau during the year ending July 1st.

That the Bureau has done good work in furnishing work to deserving people wishing a part time occupation, and in furnishing employers with much needed service, is a matter of easy proof.

As before stated, 1107 people have been served between October 1st, 1920, and July 1st, 1921.

EDITH JAMIESON,
Chairman of Committee.

Refreshment booths will furnish all kinds of refreshments.

"THE WILD GOOSE"

The story of a man who was true to one woman, though another man stole her away. Like the wild goose that knows but one mate, he chose her from all her sex as his wife. And then, through disgrace and treachery, even death, he stood by her, fought for her, won her back. A romance as big as a boundless love. Staged in lavish beauty and thrillingly played by a cast including Mary MacLaren, Norman Kerry and Holmes Herbert.

In respect to length of life no fruit tree compares with the orange. If an apple tree reaches the age of fifty years it is a notable event; but in Rome there is an orange tree which is reported to be 717 years old. In Southern France is an orange tree recorded to be 464 years old, with the promise of its being able to reach "a ripe old age."

Near Madrid, Spain, is an orange tree which, according to the records is 633 years old, with no serious signs of decay. Several groves in Southern Spain are said to be four hundred years old.

The development of scientific methods of picking and handling citrus fruits has come along with the development of better nursery stock and "pedigreed varieties." In former years the orange pickers of Florida knocked the fruit from the trees with poles, bruising it and making it subject to premature decay. This was later improved upon by pulling it from the limbs by hand. Later it was found that if a small part of the stem was permitted to adhere to the fruit that its keeping qualities were greatly improved. Today fruit is clipped from the stem very carefully so as to leave a small bit of stem adhering, though clipped closely enough to avoid the stem damaging other fruit with which it is picked.

Pickers use long ladders to reach the topmost portions of the trees and are very careful to bruise the fruit as little as possible. When picked it is placed in sacks hung over the pickers' shoulders. From these sacks it is emptied into field boxes, which in turn are carried to the packing houses for packing.

The modern orange packing house represents a considerable investment in labor-saving machinery. Fruit is washed, polished, assorted and wrapped in papers, being placed in boxes which are securely nailed for shipment. Sanitary conditions under which citrus fruits are handled in the packinghouse could hardly be more perfect for the handling of human food.

The method followed by most packing houses is to dump the fruit into a vat of water, from whence it passes over brushes specially designed for cleansing the fruit. Thence through the drying rooms and over polishing brushes to the sizers, where it is passed along until the fruit has all dropped into bins arranged according to size. All this is done by electricity, after which the fruit is packed by hand. The boxes are then placed on a cable which passes them on to the nailers and labellers. The work progresses rapidly and is quite interesting to watch.

Oranges are shipped in boxes or crates with an average capacity of 1-3 bushels. They are carefully assorted according to size and quality and commercially are quoted according to the number and quality of oranges packed in the box. Thus, we have oranges from 80s, which are very large indeed, down to 324s, which are the smallest oranges shipped commercially.

Concerning the yield of oranges there is much diversity of opinion, and many records of yield are authentic and some undoubtedly are mythical. No reliable compilation of average figures has ever been made to our knowledge. A tree in the Azores is said to have yielded 20,000 oranges in a single season.

In Lake county, Florida, a grower is reputed to have picked 6,000 oranges from a single one of 600 trees in his grove. The yield of that tree for that season amounted to something like $97.00. There are numerous other records, one of which credits a single tree in South Florida with producing 10,000 oranges in a season, but unfortunately all the records which are offered cannot be authenticated.

The climate of Florida, in combination with the sandy soil of the highlands, enables the production here of citrus fruits of very highest quality. The Florida orange is noted for its sweetness. As a matter of fact, its sugar content is precisely the same as in other oranges grown elsewhere on this continent. Due to climatic and other conditions, however, the Florida orange does not develop as high a proportion of acid as is found in oranges produced outside this state. It is the absence of an excess of acid that makes the Florida orange so palatable.

Florida grapefruit knows no rival in the markets in the matter of flavor and quality. Several years ago the Interstate Commerce Commission, while hearing a complaint from Florida grapefruit shippers against alleged discrimination in freight rates in favor of grapefruit from another section, solemnly declared in its written opinion to the effect that Florida grapefruit, because of its quality, was entirely in a class by itself, for which reason the learned commission was unable to look upon other grapefruit as constituting competition within the ordinary meaning of the word.

The grapefruit is of comparatively recent development. Less than a century ago Captain Shaddock brought a fruit to Florida from the East Indies which took the name of the old sea captain. The bloom of the Shaddock had the appearance and fragrance of the orange blossom. The Shaddock produced clusters of huge fruit, many of which measured as much as eight inches in diameter. The inside of the fruit had a pinkish tinge and was pithy and not edible. It had no more commercial value than the ordinary mock orange, though it became popular as an ornamental tree for lawns and walks.

Citrus fruit nurserymen, however, were not slow to see the promising field for experiments which the Shaddock offered. Having all the characteristics of the orange, they bred it with the orange and rough lemon, and through a series of interesting experiments finally produced the pomello or grapefruit of today.

The development of the grapefruit industry in Florida is a record of rapid progress. Beginning about thirty years ago with the products of a few trees, the Florida grapefruit crop has reached a volume of approximately two and one-half million boxes for the present season. This is by no means a capacity crop. The capacity of grapefruit trees now in bearing is probably six million boxes. The plantings to date promise ten million boxes.

While Florida has some competition in the production of oranges, it is conceded that Florida alone, of all the states, produces first quality grapefruit. Cuba, the Isle of Pines, and Porto Rico produce a certain amount of grapefruit, which, however, is marketed before the Florida crop is ready to ship. This leaves Florida grapefruit in command of the markets during the Florida shipping season, as this is practically the only crop in the United States where real good grapefruit can be successfully grown.

With each succeeding season the grapefruit crop of Florida is increasing in volume and year after year the fruit is being given a much wider distribution. A few years ago it was considered a healthful delicacy to be enjoyed only by the wealthy. The steadily increasing output has tended to put the price within the reach of those of moderate means, and thousands upon thousands of families regularly enjoy it upon their tables.

Many physicians of standing have expressed their belief in beneficial properties of grapefruit juice in aiding the digestion. The records of the American Medical Society contain many references as to the value of grapefruit and orange juices from recognized medical authorities. During the recent epidemic of Spanish influenza the demand for citrus fruit juices was so great in many of the large northern cities as to denude those markets of their supplies of citrus fruits.

Grapefruit grows very much like oranges. The tree is a little more sturdy, the leaves slightly larger, the bloom just as wax-like and fragrant, but the fruit grows in clusters like grapes, as many as one-half to two dozen in a bunch—from which the name of grapefruit is derived.

In some instances these bunches attain such great weight as to make it necessary to prop the branches upon which they grow. This is being overcome in some of the later and improved varieties, which bid for popularity with the growers because the fruit has not a tendency to cluster as in some of the older varieties. The grapefruit tree is cared for just as the orange. The fruit is picked and cleaned like the orange. Grapefruit and orange trees often grow side by side in the same grove.

Grapefruit bloom and mature fruit, according to variety, at the same season as the orange. They are gathered by the same pickers and go through the same processes as the orange in the citrus fruit packing houses.

The citrus industry of Florida has undergone a steady and healthy growth from the time of its humble beginning. Last year was rather an off year in the matter of production, yet the crop amounted to approximately 5,000,000 boxes, having a market value in excess of $20,000,000. Estimates for the present seasons crop are in the neighborhood of 8,000,000 boxes of practically corresponding value. This is not a capacity crop. The capacity of the groves of Florida, both grapefruit and oranges, is now about 12,000,000 boxes, this in 1918. The estimated capacity is 20,000,000 boxes for 1922.

NEWTON OPERA HOUSE

That "The Wild Goose," the new Cosmopolitan-Paramount picture, will score a big hit at the Newton Opera House, where it is the feature next Monday and Tuesday, is expected, inasmuch as the production is making a profound impression everywhere. It is a delightful picture, and its story provides numerous thrills in its development.

The story was written by Gouverneur Morris and the director was Albert Capellani, who created "The Inside of the Cup." A fine cast of players headed by Mary MacLaren, Holmes E. Herbert, Dorothy Bernard, Joseph Smiley and Norman Kerry, interpret the various roles.

CHURCH ADVERTISING

The increasing interest in church advertising was shown at the recent sessions of the church advertising department at the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World at Atlanta, Ga. There was a larger attendance at the sessions of this department than at any other in the building where six or seven simultaneous meetings were in progress.

Steps were taken at this meeting to raise money to employ a traveling secretary to visit advertising clubs over the country to create interest in the study of church advertising among churches.

Testimony by ministers and laymen present of the large results achieved incited many pastors to consider the use of paid space for their churches.
A Catholic priest from St. Louis, Episcopal clergymen from several distant places, as well as dozens of pastors from Atlanta and other Southern cities, were present. A pastor from Birmingham, Ala., told how regular paid space for a group of churches in his town brought enough extra money in loose collections to pay for the cost of the advertising ten times over, to say nothing of the regular offerings added to the church exchequer by those who became new members.

The advertising idea has so caught the imagination of the laymen of the same city that the Bible classes of Birmingham have taxed themselves so that the officers expect to raise $25-600 this year for publicity and advertising, employing a person on full time to advertise the Bible schools of the one city.

A RECIPE FOR 1921

A good proportion of work with about one-quarter of recreation.

A little humor.

A little kindness.

A thought or two on things that are not of the moment but belong to the ages.

A little time with books.

Some music and a friend or two.

A little sorrow, for sorrow lends the strength of understanding.

A little struggle.

Mix all these things in the bowl of circumstance—and behold!

YOU HAVE A DAY.

A rotten egg cannot be spoiled.

Humility is the foundation of all virtue.

Once in politics, almost always in politics.

RECORD UNEXCELLED IN ENTIRE HISTORY

That this is a "do big things Congress" and not a "do nothing Congress" and that it is making a record unsurpassed in the history of national legislation is declared by Representative Frank W. Mondell, of Wyoming, the Republican majority leader of the House, in a letter in reply to another addressed to him by J. W. Harriman, the New York banker, who is a Democrat. The Mondell letter follows:

"My dear Mr. Harriman: I have your letter in which you say that a large number of your depositors are 'clamoring to know why Congress does not do something with regard to the reduction of taxation.' You further make this inquiry: 'Is the inactivity of Congress the result of natural ineptitude or a feature of a deliberate reconstruction program?' I pass over the disparaging slur contained in your inquiry because I realize that it has become the habit of some who generally consider themselves bound by the rules of ordinary courtesy to forget their manners when making inquiries with regard to legislative questions and conditions.

"The special session of Congress was called by the President primarily for the purpose of revising the tariff, revenue and tax laws. There was some difference of opinion as to whether the House should first address itself to the tariff legislation or to the revision of the war taxes. Realizing that it would take a considerable length of time for the House Committee on Ways and Means to prepare a complete permanent tariff revision, I was inclined to the opinion that it might be well to take up tax revision in advance of the permanent tariff and so publicly stated.

"Practically every member of the Ways and Means Committee, including the two members from the State of New York, can bear witness to the fact that the overwhelming sentiment
of the country as expressed in letters, telegrams and editorials, was favorable to the consideration of the permanent tariff revision first. In response to this expression of sentiment the Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee took up at once with earnestness and pursued with unflinching vigor and energy the questions involved in a revision of the tariff. It has required a little longer than some anticipated to complete this great work. I am sending you a copy of the bill under separate cover, that you may examine its 346 pages, with its thousand paragraphs.

"While I realize that no one who has not had practical experience in the very great amount of research, examination, study and consultation necessary to reach an agreement with regard to any one of hundreds of paragraphs affecting rates, methods of administration and policy can fully appreciate the time and effort required, I am quite sure that any one at all familiar with business and legislative affairs must realize that the time which was consumed in the preparation of this measure was necessary and essential to a careful study, survey and discussion of the great number of important features with regard to which there was ground for difference of opinion.

"While I am not a member of the Committee on Ways and Means, I can bear testimony to the prompt and continuous sessions of this committee from the date that Congress met up to the hour of reporting the bill. I can assure you there were no banking hours observed, but that the necessary work was done early and late,
including holidays and running far into the night. Not a moment has been lost or wasted, and the bill has been presented to the House at the very earliest hour consistent with thoroughgoing, painstaking examinations of its provisions. The Republican members of the House in conference have agreed that the final vote shall be taken on the Tariff bill on July 21.

"Immediately following the passage of the tariff bill by the House,
the Ways and Means Committee will take up for consideration the questions of tax revision. The Treasury Department has been giving the matter careful, thorough and painstaking study, and the members of the House have, at the odd moments that could be spared from the consideration of the tariff bill, been studying the questions involved. No one can say with assurance just how soon tax revision may be agreed upon by the committee, but there will not be a moment's delay after the tariff is disposed of.
There will be the same earnest, active and continuous attention to this matter that has been given to the preparation of the tariff bill, and the measure will be taken up for consideration in the House as soon as it is reported. I would not assume to fix the date when the House shall conclude its consideration of the tax bill,
though we may, with reasonable confidence, expect final action not later than the middle of August.

"I am fully aware of the fact that many people are impatient because the Congress has not within two and one-half months from the beginning of the session disposed of all of the great problems before it. This is not surprising or unusual. It has always been so. A complete tariff revision is a stupendous task. This Congress has progressed with the task so far as rapidly as any Congress in my recollection—more rapidly than in most instances. The same committee which revises the tariff deals with revenue legislation. Manifestly the two matters cannot be considered at the same time by the same people, nor would it be practical to have two separate bodies considering these intimately related matters.

"Heretofore, Congress, having met
for the consideration of tariff revision, has generally stood in recess during the period of tariff preparation in the committee. This Congress has remained constantly in session. Practically all of its committees have been unusually diligent. The Congress has already placed upon the statute books
much notable, important legislation, including the peace resolution, the budget, the emergency tariff and the immigration restriction law. In addition, much important legislation has been considered in one or both branches of the Congress and is on the way to final enactment—such measures, for instance, as the Packers' bill, the bill for consolidation of Governmental activities for the benefit of ex-service men, revision of the laws, the Roads bill and many others.

"The Congress has, during this session, passed two important appropriation bills—those providing for the maintenance of our military and naval establishments. The Army bill is a law and the Naval bill is all but agreed to.

"Take it all in all and by and large,
this Congress has been as diligent, as painstaking and as active as any Congress that has ever met in the Capitol at Washington, and it has a record of accomplishment which to this time is unexcelled.

"I realize there are many people who do not appreciate these facts, partly because they are so busy with their own affairs that they do not keep track of the work of Congress, partly because it is the business of partisans hostile to the Administration to make it appear that the Congress is not at work and is not accomplishing results.

"Very truly yours,
"F. W. MONDELL."

A HEALTH CAMPAIGN

The Newton Welfare Bureau is conducting a Health Campaign on the playgrounds. Attractive pins are being awarded for persistent efforts to attain accredited health habits.

Of 85 children weighed and measured at the Stearns Playground, 12 were within 1 pound of normal, and 46 were within 10 per cent of normal.

Of 135 children tested at the Burr playground, 24 were within 1 pound of normal and 82 within 10 per cent.

At the Eden avenue and West Newton Playgrounds, the numbers were combined, 126 children came under observation. Of these, 23 were within 1 pound of normal, and 67 within 10 per cent.

At Auburndale, of 32 children, 4 were within 1 pound and 13 within 10 per cent of normal weight.

At the Newton High School and Shorthridge High School, he recently became a member of the faculty at Harvard and a member of the Editorial staff of the Atlantic Monthly Press, when the family again became residents of West Newton.

Mr. Thornton Thomas was a member of the junior class of Boston University, and was on the staff of the Beacon and the Hub, the two chief publications of the University.

The funeral took place at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs.
George Thornton, in Indianapolis last Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Rev. J. Edgar Park of the Second Church, West Newton, went on to conduct the services. The burial was in Crown Hill Cemetery, where the Indianapolis Post of the American Legion conducted the services with full military and naval honors.

MRS. SADLER INJURED

Mrs. Mary A. Sadler, 60 years old, of 9 Park street, Newton, while pushing a baby carriage about 10.10 Tuesday morning was struck by a Boston Electrified car at the corner of Park and Washington streets, Newton, and thrown to the ground.

When she saw the approaching car
she realized that either the baby or herself must be sacrificed, the car being too close to save both. Without a second's hesitation Mrs. Sadler gave the carriage a violent push forward, and in the next moment she was lying a battered and bruised heap between the rails.

The baby and the carriage escaped
by a margin of inches. Mrs. Sadler was taken to the Newton Hospital, where she was placed on the dangerous list.

THORNTON SWAIN THOMAS

Thornton Swain Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swain Thomas of Highland avenue, West Newton, died last Sunday morning at the Methodist Hospital, Indianapolis, after an operation for appendicitis performed last week Thursday night. He was taken ill suddenly Wednesday night. About a month ago Mr. Thomas went to Indianapolis to take a position with the Puritan Bed Spring Co.

He was born in Indianapolis 22 years ago and spent the greater part of his boyhood there. In 1916 he came with his parents to live in West Newton. In 1918 he enlisted as a seaman in the navy and served during the remainder of the World War, serving in the danger zone for six months. During this time the family moved to Cleveland, Ohio, where they lived for two years. For a time he served as reporter on the Cleveland Press. Later he was a student in Western Reserve University.

Mr. Thomas' parents arrived in Indianapolis Saturday afternoon. His father was formerly an instructor in English in the Newton High School and Shorthridge High School. He recently became a member of the faculty at Harvard and a member of the

MR. GEORGE H. INGRAHAM DEAD

Mr. George H. Ingraham, a former well-known druggist of West Newton, died Tuesday, August 9, at his summer home, Rindge, N. H., after a long illness.

He was born in Saxtonville in 1849. At an early age he moved with his parents to Natick. In 1870 he entered the employ of E. T. Billings, druggist, at Eliot Hall Bldg., Newton. In October, 1871, he bought the business of H. Gordon Webster, in Old Village Hall Building, West Newton, corner of Washington and Waltham streets, and remained there until Jan., 1876, when he moved to the present location at the corner of Watertown and Waltham streets. In 1909 the business was incorporated under the firm name of Ingraham and Paine Co., with Mr. Ingraham as treasurer.

Mr. Ingraham was one of the best known druggists in Massachusetts and served for many years as treasurer of the Boston Druggists' Association. He was very active in local pharmaceutical associations and frequently appeared before legislative committees at the State House in behalf of legislation to benefit pharmacists. He was also a member of Newton Lodge, I. O. O. F.

Mr. Ingraham married Miss Helen M. Ballard of West Newton. He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. A. O'Spierre of Andover, Mass., and three sons, Francis G. of Newtonville, Paul and Donald of Boston. Services were held Thursday morning, August 11, at his summer home, and burial was in the family lot at the Newton Cemetery.

STILES—HAMMOND

Miss Ruth Hammond, daughter of Mrs. Newton Hammond, Walker street, Newtonville, was married on Saturday to Mr. A. Ralph Stiles, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Stiles of Stow, Mass.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George S. Butters of Newton and the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Newton LeRoy Hammond, M. I. T.

The bridesmaids were Miss Hazel Hammond, sister of the bride, Miss Vivian Milliken of Augusta, Me., Miss Edna Gadd of Plymouth, N. H., and Miss Isabelle Morrison of Newtonville. Lois Craig, niece of the groom, was flower girl and Newton LeRoy Hammond, Jr., nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

William Saville, Jr., of Waban was the best man and the ushers were Kenneth Williams and Stewarts Batchelder of Sunderland, Mass., and David Potter of Concord, all of whom were classmates of the groom at Amherst.

The bride wore a gown of white satin charmeuse and lace and carried a bouquet of field roses.

The bridesmaids wore green and pink organdie gowns and carried opelia roses.

A reception followed the ceremony, the house being tastefully decorated with palms, evergreen and roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Stiles were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Hammond, Mr. LeRoy Hammond, mother and brother of the bride and the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Stiles.

Miss Hammond is a graduate of Simmons, 1916, and for three years was head of the department of household economy at Bates College and for the past year has been manager of the Blaine Mansion at Augusta, Me.

Mr. Stiles is a graduate of Amherst Agricultural, 1917. During the war he served at the Machine Gun Officers' Training School in the South.

After an extended wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Stiles will reside in Stow and will be at home after Oct. 1st.

DOES JAZZ PUT THE SIN IN SYN-COPATION?

A Problem for American Parents

"Dancing to Mozart minuets, Strauss waltzes and Sousa two-steps would never lead to the corset-check room which now holds sway in hotels, clubs and dance halls. Nor would a girl who wore corsets in those days have been dubbed 'Old Ironside' and left a disconsolate wall-flower in a corner of the ball-room," says Mrs.

Marx E. Oberndorfer, National Music Chairman of the General Federation of Music Clubs.

The quotation above appears in an article entitled "Does Jazz Put the Sin in Syn-copation?" written by Mrs. Oberndorfer in the interest of better music. This article which appears in the August number of The Ladies' Home Journal, points out how music may become an influence for evil. It directs particular criticism to jazz.

Offering proof that jazz produces a definite demoralizing effect on the human brain, Mrs. Oberndorfer continues: "Jazz originally was the accompaniment of the Voodoo dancer, stimulating the half-crazed barbarian to the vilest deeds."

After pointing out the evils created by jazz, Mrs. Oberndorfer concludes with a plea for good music because of the help and inspiration it can and will give. She says: "The Music Department of the General Federation of Music Clubs has taken for its motto: 'To Make Good Music Popular and Popular Music Good.' The article shows how the women of America can help the club women carry out this motto in every home firmly, steadfastly, determinedly, until all the music in our land becomes an influence for good."

"LEST WE FORGET"

In a recent issue of a magazine of national circulation appeared a cartoon which has excited widespread comment. It represented the interior of a garage. Hard at work, repairing a dismantled automobile were three mechanics, the President, the House, and the Senate. Standing in the doorway, with a cynical expression was "Col. Democracy," the Discharged Chauffeur, who is saying, "I fixed it so they haven't got it fixed yet."

Nothing more aptly describes the condition of the Federal governmental machinery, the identity of the party responsible for that condition, and the tremendous job of reconstruction which is being undertaken by the Republican Administration.

When the Republican Administration came into power and took over the executive departments after eight years of administration by Democracy, they found a badly wrecked and sadly neglected piece of machinery. The Post Office Department, disorganized and inefficient, the executives at sixes and sevens with the rank and file. The condition of the War Department was most aptly described by a story which has become a classic in official circles. A great many months after the United States had officially entered the war, a chief clerk in one of the war bureaus, apologizing for the failure of the department, pathetically exclaimed: "We had a dandy organization in the War Department until the war came along and spoiled it all."

Secretary Weeks found more than $100,000,000 in old claims unsettled. In addition, the so-called "tough cases" had not been even touched by the outgoing administration. Contracts involving many millions of dollars had been entered into and, in some cases, these were so suspicious in their character, Secretary Weeks ordered them cancelled and the transactions referred to the Department of Justice.

The Treasury Department was practically broken down. Its several auditing bureaus were from months to years behind in their work. Revenue laws were being flagrantly disobeyed and revenue taxes in the sum of many millions of dollars were being openly evaded. The War Risk Insurance Bureau had become a national scandal and disgrace.

The Department of Commerce was so loosely organized and inefficiently managed that a very large proportion of the work it did perform was so inaccurate as to be valueless, both to the Government and to the commercial interests of the country.

The Department of Justice was a political machine with thousands of untried cases on its dockets; with over $1,000,000,000 in claims awaiting its adjustment; with its payrolls packed with high-salaried special attorneys, most of whom were political appointees and who were doing little or nothing to earn their salaries.

The Shipping Board was being operated at a loss of $16,000,000 a month; its offices full of political appointees; with no training or qualifications for their jobs. There were outstanding claims against the board in the sum of $300,000,000. There were 1,700 admiralty cases pending against the board. There were 900 law suits against the board, scattered all over the country with no records in its possession with which to make a defense.

The executives connected with the Republican Administration have worked unceasingly in the past four months to get the machinery in running order; to bring the work up to date; to restore morale in the rank and file; to get rid of the debris which cannot be salvaged and to repair the parts which can be saved. As the full story of the amount of damages inflicted upon this machinery by the discharged chauffeur comes to light, the American people, who must foot the bills and who are the real sufferers because of this damage to their administrative machinery, will have no patience with those who stand around and jibe at the mechanics who are trying to repair the damage. Least of all, will they re-employ the chauffeur who "fixed it so they haven't fixed it yet." They will not forget.

The Beauty of Lichens.

The famous "Crimson Cliffs" of Greenland, which extend for miles, derive their splendid color from red lichen. They rise 2,000 feet from the water's edge. The Golden Gate in the Yellowstone owes its name to the yellow lichen of its lofty walls.

DEATH OF MRS. JOSEPH COOK

Mrs. Joseph Cook, who has made her winter home in Auburndale since the death of her husband twenty years ago, died suddenly at her summer residence, Cliff Seat, Ticonderoga, early Wednesday morning, August third. She had spent the day Tuesday as usual, reading, writing and driving, and in the evening played backgammon till interrupted by friends who came to call. She retired rather later than usual and soon after midnight the dear friend who was staying with her heard a sound from her room. Hurrying to her she found her oppressed for breath, but in a few minutes she fell quietly asleep and did not waken.

Mrs. Cook has been connected with the Woman's Board of Missions for many years, as corresponding secretary and then as a member of the Board of Directors and of the Editorial Committee. She wrote book reviews for "Life and Light" for fifteen years. Her travels with her distinguished husband brought her into close contact with Missions and Missionaries, and as she once said she "had been a life member of the Woman's Board since her young womanhood, but not a live member" till she thus became acquainted with its work. She was a member of the Auburndale Woman's Club, and was a constant attendant at the Congregational Church in Auburndale and interested in all its activities. She was a member of the Congregational Church in Ticonderoga, where she was the leader and inspirer of the work of the women and children in the church during her summers there.

She was in constant touch with young people and children and interested in all that interested them. A friend recalls an address she made many years ago when she urged the young women to choose, not between the good and the bad, but between the good and the best.

Her outstanding characteristic was her genuine interest and sympathy, not only with world-wide affairs, but with all that touched the lives of her friends. She was widely read, had travelled extensively and had not only met, but entertained in her home many noted people. Dignified, refined, cultivated, keen but kindly in judgment, responsive to affection, she loved and was loved by multitudes of friends who will sadly miss her gracious presence, her loving sympathy and her kindly deeds.

Services were held in the home at Cliff Seat on Friday, August fifth, Mr. Harmon of the Ticonderoga church officiating, assisted by Dr. W. C. Gordon, former pastor of the Auburndale church. She was laid to rest beside her husband on the beautiful hilltop overlooking the valley she so much loved.

WELL-KNOWN NEWTON BOY RETURNS FROM FAR EAST

Capt. Warren J. Clear, U. S. A., who is now spending a month's leave of absence at the home of his parents, 15 Hovey street, Newton, returned this week to the United States after a long stay in the Orient.

Just previous to our entry into the War he became a member of the Harvard Reserve Officers' Training Corps and was a member of the famous "First Squad" of Co. "G," which numbered in its eight members "Charlie" Brickley, "Tacks" Hardwick, Sam Felton and other notables.

While a member of the Harvard unit he took examinations for commission in the Regular Army, but was not permanently commissioned until October, 1917. After five months at Cambridge and Barre, Mass., he was sent to Plattsburg to complete his training as a Reserve Officer. In October, 1917, he was assigned to the 22nd U. S. Infantry, Governors' Island, N. Y., and after serving at various other Army posts in the East and West was ordered to Siberia. Due to the withdrawal of the 31st Infantry he was transferred to the 15th Infantry, stationed at Tientsin, China.

A rapidly acquired speaking knowledge of the Mandarin dialect secured him a detail in the Military Intelligence Division as Assistant to the Intelligence Officer, Philippine Department, and he subsequently made trips over most of China. He later visited Japan and the battle-fields of the Russo-Jap war in and around the famous Port Arthur, and had an opportunity to visit Kiaochow Bay and the town of Tsing-Tau which Japan took from Germany early in the war. He made several trips into the famine districts of Central China on food-distributing commissions.

In January this year he was ordered to the Philippines in command of the Infantry Company sent to represent the United States China Expedition at the Annual Military and Athletic Carnival held in Manila. This company, on the competitive close-order drill, defeating twelve other Regular Army entrants and several crack Philippine Scout organizations.

He had short tours of service in 1919 in the Philippines and at Honolulu, Hawaii.

He was recently promoted to captain and will be stationed at Washington, D. C., at the expiration of his leave.

While a student at Boston College he was prominent in all athletic and literary activities and was President of his section in his Sophomore year. He received premiums for excellence in French, Greek, Latin and Physics, and in his Junior year won the gold medal at the Marquette Prize Debate and the fifty dollar purse at the Annual Oratorical Contest.

He served terms as Treasurer of the Fulton and President of the Marquette Debating Societies and was elected Editor-in-Chief of the Boston College Monthly, The Stylus. He was also a member of the Intercollegiate Debating team.

He recently received the degree of Bachelor of Arts from that institution. He "stumped" for Secretary of War Weeks when the latter was running for Senator from Massachusetts.

While in China Captain Clear wrote a history of the Fifteenth U. S. Infantry.

Just Average Folks

Most of the wealthy used to be just plain folks like those we rub elbows with in the shop, the factory, and on the farm.

They weren't blest with any particular luck but won by sticking to a resolve to invariably spend less than they made.

This bank always has been especially anxious to help the average folks who save persistently for the day of opportunity or need.

It has no higher mission than to safeguard and profitably employ such savings, and to keep them constantly available.

DEATH OF MR. McDUFF

Mr. James McDuff, a former Newton resident and business man, died at the Newton Hospital, Monday, August 8, as the result of an auto accident. He was born in St. Johns, N. B., in 1853, the son of John and Mary Cox McDuff. He came to Newton about 40 years ago and made his home here until five years ago when he moved to Stetson street, Brookline. Mr. McDuff married Miss Elizabeth Stuart, daughter of the late Timothy Stuart. He is survived by his widow and three daughters, Mrs. William G. O'Hare of Wilmington, Del.; Mrs. William R. Bent, wife of Capt. William Bent, Camp Lewis, Wash.; and Miss Blanche McDuff of Brookline.

Services were held at the St. Aidens Church, Brookline, on Thursday, August 10, at 10 o'clock, with high mass of requiem conducted by the Rev. Dr. Craig. Burial was at the Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

STORY OF A

A man sat in our office a few days ago talking about buying a home. A part of the money he wanted to use was invested in stock of a Manufacturing Company, a perfectly good company, paying dividends on the stock. He had paid $500 for the stock and now wants to sell it but can get only $400 for it. He says that hereafter his savings are going into the savings bank where he can.

LAND COURT

To the Newton Trust Company, a duly existing corporation having an usual place of business in Newton, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth; Christine R. Thompson, of said Newton; Alice C. Dunham, of Brookline, in the County of Norfolk and said Commonwealth; and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Ben Ames Williams, of said Newton, to register and confirm his title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situate in said Newton, bounded and described as follows:
 Southwest by Prospect Park one hundred ninety (190) feet; Northwesterly by land of Christine R. Thompson one hundred nineteen and 1/100 (119.01) feet; Northeasterly by land of said Christine R. Thompson and of Alice C. Dunham, one hundred eighty three and 19/100 (183.19) feet; Easterly by land of said Alice C. Dunham one hundred three and 26/100 (103.26) feet; and Southeasterly by land of said Alice C. Dunham one hundred two and 80/100 (102.80) feet.

Petitioner claims as appurtenant to the above described land usual passageway rights over the right of way shown on lot forty nine (49) on plan hereinafter mentioned and similar rights over the right of way on the easterly side of lot forty four (44) shown on said plan; and petitioner admits said land is subject to usual passageway rights over the right of way shown on part of the northerly side of lot fifty (50), as shown on said plan.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the sixth day of September, A. D. 1921, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this tenth day of August in the year nineteen hundred and twenty-one.

Attest with Seal of said Court,
 CLARENCE C. SMITH, Recorder.

7.
The next morning we arrived at Daytona, of which we had heard a great deal and in which we anticipated considerable pleasure.
In the words of one of its boosters, "Daytona possesses all of the charms that make up an ideal southern seaside resort city. Semitropical climate, warm winter sunshine, infinite numbers of subtropical flowers, trees, and blooming shrubs; a rolling ocean surf, a maximum amount of healthful outdoor life and recreation, an atmosphere of refinement and culture; modern homelike hotels and apartments; easy accessibility from all points by train, automobile, and boat; picturesque tropical scenery, complete absence of malarial fevers; good roads, good schools, churches, etc., all designate Daytona as an ideal city in which to live. It is a city of beautiful homes, of culture and quietude. Youth, in search of pleasures, golf, tennis, dancing, congenial companionship, surf-bathing and endless diversions, will enjoy Daytona. Middle Age, desiring restful, healthful change of environment and climate, where nature calls away from the metropolitan rush of commercialism and noise, finds fish-

PLAYGROUND NEWS

It now looks as if there would be more than four hundred entries in the athletic meet which will be part of the Newton Centre Field Day on August 24th, and hundreds of children will participate in the dances and games. All directors report that a large number of children have signified their intention to participate in one way or another in the Newton Centre Festival. The athletic meet will start promptly at 10 in the morning. The whole field inside the one quarter-mile track will be roped off. Several events will be going on at the same time.

A caterer will be on hand to furnish refreshments if the children want to buy them. This whole field day should be of special interest to parents and the people of Newton in general, since it will give them an idea of what the health giving activities which are being conducted on the Newton Playgrounds. It is always a fascinating entertainment to watch youngsters in competition and while engaged in, for them, serious play. The midget, junior and intermediate events, both boys and girls, will be over by 5.30 in the afternoon. At the time the presentation of prizes, consisting of medals will be presented by His Honor, Mayor Childs. The medals are reproductions of the City of Newton seal and although not of great intrinsic value will prove most pleasing and attractive mementoes of the contest. It now looks as if a

FATAL MOTORCYCLE ACCIDENT

George McDonald, aged 16, of Faxon street, Newton, was killed, while his brother, Arthur, aged 20, was but slightly injured as a result of a motorcycle accident Wednesday morning at 10.15 at the corner of Waltham and Crafts streets, West Newton.

Arthur was driving his motorcycle west on Crafts street, with George riding on the rear. At the Waltham-street corner Arthur started to turn the motorcycle around, and in so doing it skidded. Officials think that George, fearing there was going to be an accident, jumped, and was hurled against a telegraph pole. He was killed instantly.

After George jumped Arthur kept the machine going, and after proceeding about 30 feet, plunged into a stone wall. The machine was demolished. Mrs. Frank Tuttle, who lives near the scene of the accident, rushed out and summoned the police. Dr. Patrick Coady was also called and took Arthur home in his automobile.

Medical Examiner West took the body of George to the mortuary. He said that he was probably killed outright and had sustained a fractured skull, as well as other injuries.

A band concert will be held through the afternoon.

The meet from 6.30 will be devoted entirely to the senior boys, since it will be expected that most of the youngsters will be gone home to supper.

The people of Newton are cordially invited to the field day.

Newton Lad With Harvard Glee Club Relates His Experiences

Mulhouse, July 16, 1921.

Dear M—

We left Strasbourg this morning, and are here for a short but snappy visit at Mulhouse. Tomorrow morning we leave at 6.10 for Wiesbaden, where we have a day of rest before taking the boat down the Rhine for Coblenz, where Mr. Sprenger is making the arrangements for us. Then we return via Strasbourg where we spend the night, and go from there to Milan, to Venice for nine days (July 22-31) to Pesaro until Aug. 2, to Ravenna until Aug. 4, to Milan until Aug. 6, to Switzerland, either Geneva or Lausanne, until Aug. 8, to Paris for a short stop, to Havre on Aug. 10, where we sail for the good old U. S. A. We sure are having a wonderful time, but we'll all be glad to get back home, where we don't have to rack our brains to make ourselves understood.

At Strasbourg they had a wonderful celebration on the 14th. All the houses were literally covered with flags, and many of the public buildings were all lit up in many colors at night. It was a real "jour de fete". Many of the Alsatian girls wore their national costumes, and in the afternoon they held a parade in our honor, of Alsatian girls and a few of the men in national costume, it was one of the prettiest and most picturesque things I ever saw. We gave a concert in the Orangerie gardens in the afternoon, and in the evening we all spent out to see the fireworks at the cathedral. The tower is built like lace, and at one time they had the whole business all lighted with red, white and blue fire. In addition, they had all kinds of the most gorgeous rockets, mines, pin wheels, and everything you can imagine. The streets in view of the cathedral were all jammed full of people much worse than a Boston Elevated subway jam. It was a great sight just to see the crowds of people that night, and surely Strasbourg is the most picturesque place you can imagine. The cutest things we saw were some tiny little girls, as pretty as pictures, about 3 to 7 or 8 years old in their little Alsatian costumes. For that matter, all the girls in Strasbourg are beautiful. I didn't see a homely one all the time I was there. And the best thing about it is that you never see any of them made up—they don't use a bit of paint or powder or rouge or anything like that. You see any amount of them out on the streets at night, but rarely without some sort of chaparrone. At the cafes, there were crowds dancing out in the streets in front of them. I took a hand at it after I got up nerve enough to ask some girl to dance with me, and had a peach of a time.

About half past twelve, a regular parade of people came marching up the street singing and dancing. They had a cornet, a couple of fifes, and an accordion for their band, and it was a case of Frenchmen on one side of you and German on the other. The Alsatians as a whole are wildly happy

Country Drive at Daytona

Orchard beach is the nearest in comparison in this vicinity, but the Daytona beach is 26 miles long and even wider than that at Old Orchard. The sand has a peculiar quality and after the water is either dried out or partially dried out after each tide, it becomes as hard as an ordinary street pavement. The tracks of a heavy automobile can hardly be seen and it takes considerable effort to even make an indentation with a boot heel. The beach is from 300 to 500 feet in width at half or low tide and makes an ideal place for automobile races. Newtonians will recall that this is the place where the Stanley automobile made its exceedingly fast records. Fred Marriott driving a mile in 22 seconds.

We drove up the beach and around the Ormond hotel which faces the sound, not the ocean. Right across the way is the modest winter home of John D. Rockefeller, with a country road (which he has tried in vain to have closed) between his house and the water. The Daytona end of the beach, or rather that part of the beach which is nearer to Daytona, is something like Revere beach in its collection of shops and catch penny devices. We drove back by what is called the Peninsular drive, running longitudinally in about the middle of the island, and saw many fine residences. We also saw the district which had been "shot up" in true western fashion only the night before, for alleged wire tapping.

Returning to Daytona, the whole party was taken in three small steamers up the sound, or Halifax river as it is called, to the Hotel Ormond, where we were served with a delicious luncheon, without speeches, praise be.

The steamers brought us back to the city late in the afternoon and we had a quiet evening, part of which I spent at the Elks Club.

The next morning we had one of the finest addresses of the trip from Rev. Charles F. Foss, one of the editorial writers of the Cincinnati Enquirer, and who takes charge of one of the churches at Daytona each winter without salary.

Dr. Foss talked on "The Mission of the Editor," and touched the right chord in the hearts of every man who occupies an editorial chair. He dwelt on the functions of an editorial writer on the present day, and the qualifications such a writer should have.

In his speech Dr. Foss flouted the so-called hyphenated American as an editorial writer, saying that a man before he should be permitted to mould the opinions of others should be imbued with the love for country and home.

In this respect he said in part: "No man, who lives in memories of some alien land where he was born, with his heart bent on some patriotic duty to some other land, or some unloyal act to this country, should be allowed in editorial harness. We have had tical and economical laws, and their appliance.

In this qualification Dr. Foss outlined why an editor should know the business and political functions of a nation, and international as well as local economical laws, and the economical situation, as well as the political situation, both internationally and locally.

As the third qualification Dr. Foss said that the editor of a modern newspaper should come to some sound conclusion as to the moral principal of the universe. He outlined the present day laxity in morals, and the spread of new and useless ideas as to governments, laws and other long founded institutions, and appealed to the editors to form the right opinion of the government and its laws through the newspaper columns.

In this part of his address he made mention of the spread of Bolshevism, and how it could be counteracted from the editorial chair.

This address and the rest of the morning's program was in the Casino, which is owned by the Chamber of Commerce and is located right on the Halifax river. Later we had a buffet lunch on the grounds of the Casino, and then took automobiles for another drive about Daytona and Ormond with New Smyrna as our objective. We had an opportunity to see the possibilities of the future growth of both Daytona and Ormond and then drove down the famous beach, each automobile trying to pass every other machine in the party. It was some drive, with all of the cars making at least 45 miles an hour and some going as fast as 60 miles. Our machine went well over 50 miles at times.

The beach drive ended altogether too soon and we returned to the main land and were on our way to New Smyrna thru a road completely arched with trees, hung with the graceful Spanish moss. The road bed was none too good, but it was a beautiful drive nevertheless. We passed on the way one or two of the shell heaps of which there are many in this neighborhood and which are supposed to have been left by the early Indian inhabitants.

We were shown some interesting old ruins, said to be the oldest buildings of white men in America. The mayor of the town gave us some interesting facts, most of which were to contradict the claims of St. Augustine as the oldest white settlement in this world.

The Dixie Highway runs through New Smyrna and within the city limits it is paved with concrete. The first three miles of the Dixie Highway north of the city has no equal as a beautiful drive and the immense oaks form what is known as the "Bridal Arch." The continuation of the drive to the south through Hawke Park gives one the impression of gliding through a continuous shaded lane, with immense trees lining both sides of the road.

New Smyrna and the surrounding vicinity is well known in orange annals for its production of the finest flavored fruit in the world. Some peculiarity of the soil produces what is known as the "Indian River Orange," a fruit which has no superior and which is always in demand. The Florida Citrus Exchange fruit packing house located here is the largest exchange house on the East Coast and nearly 100,000 boxes of grapefruit and oranges are handled through this sub-exchange each winter season.

New Smyrna is now conducting a contest prior to giving away a "Bungalow Beautiful," on the Dixie Highway, an up to date, completely furnished six-room bungalow, designed by a well known architect, which is to be awarded to a white writer, from any state except Florida, of the best essay entitled "Why I Should Own My Home in New Smyrna, Florida." This contest will be continued until February 1, 1922, and details and additional information may be obtained from the secretary of the New Smyrna-Coronado Board of Trade.

enough and too much of this hyphenated Americanism."

He also outlined the necessary love for country an editor must have before he can have the inspiration to move others in the right path, toward the supreme goal.

Dr. Foss outlined three essential qualifications an editor of the modern newspaper should be possessed of. The first was love of country, and the second was a wide knowledge of politics. New Smyrna gave us a unique entertainment, closing up the Dixie highway and setting our dinner tables right in the middle of the street under a beautiful archway of trees and moss. A school boy orchestra furnished excellent music and we thoroughly enjoyed the banquet, in which the feature course was mullet, a fish for which this place is somewhat noted.

at the idea of being French again, as they say "apres cinquante ans." One of the men told me that the Germans used to fire on the crowds in the streets of Mulhouse for amusement, and that he himself had been put in prison for "quince jours" for merely saying good morning to some school children. Hun frightfulness.

I must hustle off to a reception now, so must close.

Venice, July 24, 1921.

Venice at last! Here we are in the city of the lagoons. It is beautiful beyond expression, but awfully hot in the sun. The Bridge of Sighs is just around the corner from our hotel and the cathedral of San Marco and the Palace of the Doges are right next door to us. We are going to give three concerts here—two of them at Lidos. In the afternoon everybody stays in and sleeps, but the nights are gorgeous, and the Venetian moon is all they say it is. I went out in a gondola last night, and it was the most luxurious thing you can imagine. We stopped for half an hour to listen to a concert given from a gondola, all lighted up with Japanese lanterns. There are a great many Americans here—Will write a letter tomorrow.

July 25.

I don't remember having written you a letter since we were at Mulhouse, although I've sent postcards from all the way along the line.

Mulhouse was really quite an uninteresting place, and if it hadn't been for the enthusiasm with which we were greeted, it would have been very dull. From there we went to Wiesbaden, Germany, stopping on the way at Strasbourg to change cars. We spent a very comfortable night at Wiesbaden which is really a beautiful little city, and the next day we went back across the Rhine to Mainz where we had lunch and then went on board Gen. Allen's own boat, the "Prussian" which took us down the river to Coblenz. We passed through the most beautiful parts of the Rhine right by all the famous old castles, which are as old as the Roman invasion. We passed the Mouse Tower, Stolzenfels, the castles of the Hostile Brothers, the Cat and the Mouse and a score of others, also the Lorelei. The current is very swift in most places, and it took us five hours to do the 90 kilometers down to Coblenz, where it takes seven to go up. The "Y" was in charge of our whole sojourn at Coblenz, and they even had a moving picture man on board, to make a record of our trip.

The night we arrived, we gave a grand concert at the Festhalle before 4000 men in khaki. It was a great sight to see that immense hall jammed with men in the uniform of Uncle Sam, and if I do say it, we gave them a blamed good concert.

Mr. Sprenger, you know, is the Lord High Pooh-Bah of all the "Y" in Europe, and he was very glad to see us, especially the four from "Country Day" Hugh Perrin, Bill Houghton, Dick Johnson and yours truly. He took the four of us everywhere in his own private car, invited us out to dinner, and did absolutely everything for us; he certainly was nice to us.

And as for bargains, if you want to buy things dirt cheap, go to Germany. The biggest bargains were in binoculars and cameras. German lenses are supposed to be the finest in the world, and some of the same things you get there cost from twice to three times as much in the U. S. A.

Everyone was sorry to have to leave Coblenz so soon, and truly it was one of the pleasantest visits we have had anywhere. We left Coblenz at 1.00 P. M. and got to Strasbourg at about 10.00 P. M. and left the next morning for Milan. It was a very long trip, 9.00 A. M. to 10.30 P. M. but we came through the very center of Switzerland on the way, and got a peach of a look at the Alps and some of the Swiss and the Italian lakes.

The next morning we all went over to have a look at the Cathedral, and to tell the truth I was rather disappointed in it. So far Notre Dame de Paris, and the Cathedral de Strasbourg are much the most beautiful that we have seen. Which reminds me—did I mention that we sang in the Strasbourg Cathedral the morning of July 14, and that the Cardinal held up the whole priestly procession on the way out while he stopped to shake hands with "Doc." Incidentally, that immense cathedral was jammed to the very doors.

Well—to get back to the journey—We left Milan on the 1.10 train in the afternoon, and spent a miserable six hours crossing Italy to Venice. It was piping hot, and the dust and soot were almost unbearable. Just before we got to Padua, a frisky aviator hovered over the train, doing all sorts of stunts, so close that we could have hit him with a baseball. At Venice we were received by a delegation of students, at the train, and then piled our baggage onto a little steamer and sailed almost all the way across the city, up the Grand Canal to our hotel (which incidentally is the swellest and most fashionable here).

I am beginning to be rather disappointed with Venice, for after all there isn't a great deal to see, and the little side canals are filled with all sorts of rubbish and they all smell to heaven. I wish you could see some of the old beggars here—the most miserable looking wretches I have ever laid eyes on—"Waps," "Dagos," etc. don't begin to do them justice.

If all goes well, a month from now, I will be back home again.

It has been calculated that an oyster five inches long consumes one-twelfth of a cubic inch of solid food daily, and to obtain it must filter eight or nine gallons of sea water.

GARDEN NEWS STORY

When aphids, flea beetles and late blight are giving evidence of spoiling
the potato crop, frequent sprayings with Bordeaux Mixture, in which is placed Black Leaf 40, will not be sufficient to develop a heavy yield of potatoes if much damage is done. It is a good plan for back yard gardeners who have only a small plot of potatoes to apply nitrate of soda, sulphate of ammonia or liquid manure of some sort which will start new growth and strengthen the vines so that potatoes will form and develop in spite of disease and insect pests.

In most every garden plot where tomatoes are first beginning to ripen,
many of them are found to be unfit for use because of a rot on the blossom end of the fruit. This trouble is known as "blossom end rot" and is likely to be more serious on the first few tomatoes than later. Those tomatoes should be removed and examination should be made of any green tomatoes that are developing the rot, all of them being thrown into the garbage can so that they will not continue the development of this disease on the growing tomatoes. They should not be thrown about near the garden where they can do just as much damage.

August is the month when vegetables are at their lowest price and a surplus is likely to occur in the home garden. Cold pack canning is the best means of taking care of this surplus. By this method vegetables can be preserved in just as good condition and with just as fine flavor as when they were fresh, to be used at any time during the coming winter. This method of canning is superior to the old fashioned open kettle method because all kinds of vegetables can be taken care of without fear of loss.
Bulletins which describe thoroughly the entire process of canning by the cold pack method can be obtained on application from the Middlesex County Bureau, 12 Moody street, Waltham, or the Massachusetts Agricultural College, Amherst.

String beans which are always plentiful and low in price during August may be canned or allowed to become dead ripe and used for shelled beans.
These can be kept until winter and used for baking purposes. The best time to can beans is when they are only partly grown rather than wait until they have attained their full size
when they become stringy and lose the flavor which makes them so palatable when they are two inches in diameter.

NEWTON MAN DECORATED

The citation for which Private Albert J. Considine of Headquarters Company, 101st Infantry, 26th Division, was recently decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross by Gen.
Edwards, reads as follows: For extraordinary heroism in action near Vaux, France, July 13, 1918, in leaving a place of safety, he voluntarily dashed through a dense enemy barrage to rescue comrades who had been entombed in a signal station which had been demolished by shell fire. Despite the continuing enemy fire he dug away the ruins, rescued the wounded and assisted them to first aid.

Private Considine resides on Norwood avenue, Newtonville.

AMERICAN POETRY

"The last few decades have witnessed a sudden and amazing growth in the volume as well as in the quality of the work of our poets. A new spirit, energetic, alert, penetrative,
seems to have stirred these states,
and a country-ful of writers has responded to it. No longer confined to one or two literary centres, the impulse to create is everywhere. The authors have responded to indigenous forces deeper than their backgrounds,—and young as this nation is compared to her transatlantic cousins, she is already being supplied with the stuff of legends, ballads and even epics. The modern singer, discarding imported myths, has turned to celebrate his own folk-tales.

Benet, William Rose. The burglar of the Zodiac. (YP-B429) "The exuberance of Mr. Benet's muse is the most daring exploit of any in American poetry. Never was a more apt title than the "burglar" applied to the creative mind. It steals into the secret and fastened places of experience and nature, and returns laden with wares of dreams and music.
With this volume he has become a very important figure in contemporary poetry."

THE ASYLUM

I love my asylum,
My home in the skies,
Splashed with splendid color,
Drenched in dazzling dyes:
Clouds and winds and oceans,
I love my asylum . . .
But the other inmates No!
Burr, Amelia Josephine. Life and living. (YP-B941 L) "Impulsiveness and a fearless observation of life are reflected in this volume. The technique is of admirable simplicity, and there is a sense of music and a high power of visualization. The author is an interpreter of life and experience, singing to all that is lovely and true."

Lie-Awake Song.

God has a house three streets away,
And every Sunday, rain or shine,
My nurse goes there her prayers to say.
She's told me of the candles fine
That, burning all night long, they keep
Because God never goes to sleep.
Then there's a steeple full of bells,
All through the dark the time it tells.
Burton, Richard. Poems of earth's meaning. (YP-B95 p) "Ever since the wild fragrance of the early collection "Dumb in June," this poet has been constantly interested in the spiritual mystery of earth. He possesses no obscure philosophy about the earth's meaning such as Meredith had, nor the oracular self-dedication of Wordsworth; he is simpler than the former and less austere than the latter in his relationship, and thus becomes an interpreter in terms of experience rather than symbols.

RAIN OVERNIGHT

Can it be possible that overnight
Rain roared, wind wailed, and nature wept in woe?
Clean-washed and shriven now the heavens are bright,
Keen scents rise from the earth;
each leaf's aglow
With sparkling life, and rivers in their flow
Give louder voicing to their old delight.

Byrner, Witter. Grenstone poems.
(YP-B995) "The poems are the supreme achievement of this poet who has never lacked a subtle and effective muse. It is a magical book—of feeling, of music, of pure and exquisite lyric embodiments."

Eastman, Max. Colors of life. (YP-E14) "Interpretive of life and human nature. Written in the author's vigorous and original style."

AT THE AQUARIUM

Serene the silver fishes glide, Stern-lipped, and pale, and wonder-eyed;

As through the aged deeps of ocean,
They glide with wan and wavy motion.

They have no pathway where they go,
They flow like water to and fro,
They watch with never-winking eyes,
They watch with staring, cold surprise.

The level people in the air
The people peering, peering there:
Who wander also to and fro,
And know not why or where to go,
Yet have a wonder in their eyes,
Sometimes a pale and cold surprise.

McCrae, John. In Flanders fields.
(EP-E13). Few who read the title poem of his book, possibly the most widely-read poem produced by the war, realize that it is a perfect rondeau, one of the loveliest of the French forms.

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our places; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow, Loved and were loved, and now we lie

In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe:
To you from falling hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

Y. M. C. A. BASEBALL

Last Saturday on the Y. M. C. A. field the local "Y" team defeated the strong Carlisle A. C. of Somerville, 4 to 3, in one of the best games played at home this season. The outstanding feature of the game was the pitching of Lonnegan for Newton, holding the Somerville team to almost a hit-less game, the only real hit being made in the ninth inning. The local team secured seven hits off the Carlisle pitcher, with Gullian and Adams featuring, the former connecting safely three times while Adams hit for a single and double. The team as a whole played good clean-cut ball thruout the game.

Another eleven hour cancellation has left the team without a game, but the management feels confident of securing another home game for Saturday.

THE PRESENT AND FUTURE

By Nathan Howard Gist

Too many people live in the past.
They are fond of talking about "the good old days," as if such days belong to the past, never to return. They live in the maze of yesterday. They look backward instead of forward.
Their perspective bears the stamp of several decades ago. Their business methods are obsolete. Their movements are reactionary. They get into ruts and stay there, and they plow those ruts deeper. If progress is made, this class of people deserve no credit, though they reap the benefits of the progress which their wide-awake brothers make.

Too many people live only in the present. They are not reactionary.
They are progressive. They scoff at their conservative brothers who would turn the hands of the clock back.
These folks are full of zeal. They have push and enthusiasm. They push those folks who are moving too slowly, and pull those who would stand still too long. With them no day is quite as good as today. Yesterday may have been fine, but today is better. They see things which must be done—now. On every hand are crooked places to be made straight, and social battles to be fought—today.
Their motto is "Do it now." They are as securely locked up in the present as the reactionaries are lost in the bog of the past.

Both of these classes of folks are in danger of losing sight of a still more important thing—the future.
Yesterday is gone, and today is fast going. But tomorrow's sun has not yet risen. Today's echoes of yesterday, but they are also the prophets of tomorrow.

The individual who lives entirely in the present—as regards his finances, his personal problems, his domestic life, his religion, and his education,
is like him who would build a house,
but does not get beyond the foundation.

Rome and Greece were mighty empires, but they fell—largely because they lived in and for the present; for instance, in their amusement problems. The Civil War of 1861 was fought because the issue was not settled in 1787. The World War that broke out in 1914 found this country unprepared, because too many members of congress had been living only in the present. As a result the war lasted longer than it should have.
Some men are going to the other extreme these days. Living in the present, they shy at everything, real or imaginary, and would drain the treasury of the nation to the last penny.
They would take the last crust of bread from the table of the individual citizen because of "wars and rumors of wars." They are living only in the present, and forget the possible bankruptcy of tomorrow.

We had an "open door policy" in the Orient, thanks to our greatest diplomat, John Hay. The World War closed that door. For seven years we have been living in the present. President Harding took a peep into the future the other day, and suggested to our biggest neighbors that we get together and clean up that mess in and around the Pacific.

Things are running at high pressure these days. At times we do more crowing than growing. Instead of taking off our coats to the future, we are taking off our hats to the present.
Prosperity was too much for our world. Too long did we revel knee-deep in the meadow. Too long did we pluck the roses of the present.

Days of adversity may be ahead.
More important than either are days of hard work and growth. Today's achievements will be the index of tomorrow's results.—Grit.

Cecil B. De Mille's latest Paramount picture, "Forbidden Fruit," which will be shown at the Newton Opera House, Monday and Tuesday, August 22 and 23, is said to be one of the most sumptuous productions with which the name of that master producer has ever been identified. The cast is unusually excellent.

"Forbidden Fruit" seems destined to occupy a high place as a dramatic romance. Agnes Ayres has the leading woman's role.

GARDEN NEWS STORY

This is the month when late blight begins to attack many plants of the garden. Warm, moist weather is especially conducive to the development of the spores which spread very rapidly by means of insects or tools.

For potatoes, the regular spray should be made every ten days through August and early September, whether the blight has already appeared or not,
as a protective measure. Beans, celery and vine crops it is not necessary to spray until the blight first makes its appearance. On the leaves, the individual spots are small and round but they later unite into irregular blotches, sometimes covering the entire leaf. There is a distinctive odor which differentiates late blight from any other disease or insect injury. It is most important that careful observation be made two or three times a week in order to detect trouble just as soon as it appears. After much of a start is made, it is almost impossible to check it completely.

Bordeaux mixture is the only means of control and if properly made and applied, both to the under and upper sides of the leaves, late blight can be completely checked.

The squash vine borer is causing almost as much trouble this year as last. The first evidence of the presence of the borer will be the wilting of the leaves, which is sometimes mistaken for blight. At the base of the stalk near the root, will be found a small hole, near which will be a sticky substance like sawdust. By taking a knife and slitting the stalk from the point of entrance toward the tip, the borer, or more than one will be found somewhere within one foot of the ground.

If damage is not too great, the vine
may be wound with tape or cloth, after the borers have been removed, and covered with soil at several points where leaves and stems meet where the vine will take root and continue to grow. If vines are killed they should be pulled up and destroyed by fire, in order that the borers may not go into winter quarters and start more trouble next year.

Success at Last.

"Ah!" said the golfer, who was skating, as the ice gave way beneath him, "at last I have developed a perfect follow through."—Boston Transcript.

WILEY-JAFFREY

Miss Mildred Viola Jaffrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Jaffrey of Boston, and formerly of Newtonville, was married on Tuesday, Aug. 16, to Mr. Nathaniel Chester Wiley of the Newton Y. M. C. A. at the home of the bride's brother, Charles E. Jaffrey, Jr., at Cohasset, Mass.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Chester Drummond of the Somerville Congregational Church.

Mrs. Charles E. Jaffrey, Jr., was matron of honor and the flower girl was Pauline Jaffrey, niece of the bride. The best man was Charles E. Jaffrey, Jr. The bride wore a gown of ivory white satin and lace and the tulle veil was fastened with a spray of lilies of the valley and she carried a bouquet of bride roses, sweet peas and maiden hair ferns. The matron of honor wore Biege chiffon with brown tulle hat and carried Ophelia roses.

A reception followed the ceremony the house being very beautifully decorated with roses, hydrangea and asparagus ferns. After a wedding trip to New Hampshire Mr. and Mrs. Wiley will reside at 1126 Centre street, Newton Centre, and will be at home after October 1.

Mr. Wiley is a Dartmouth man and a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity. Mrs. Wiley is a graduate of the Newton Classical High School.

REAL ESTATE

Howley W. Morton has conveyed to A. Clayton Parker the beautiful bungalow typed cottage house located at 50 Grove Hill Park. The cottage contains 7 rooms with two baths, and all modern improvements, together with about 10,000 ft. land. The valuation is $12,500. After building a modern two-car garage and otherwise improving the property Mr. Parker, with his family will occupy as a home. Grove Hill Park is a picturesque elevation overlooking Commonwealth avenue and the beautiful Newton Centre section. The above sale was negotiated by M. O'Connor.

DEATH OF MR. CUSHMAN

Mr. John T. Cushman, a well known business man of West Newton died Friday, August 12, at his home, 104 Elliot avenue after a long illness. He was born in Plymouth, Feb. 12, 1858, the son of Ephraim and Elizabeth Cushman. He came to West Newton thirty years ago, where he entered the hardware and plumbing business. Mr. Cushman was twice married, his first wife being Miss Ida May Taylor of Peacedale, R. I., who died in 1907. In 1910 he married Miss Alice Wentzell of West Newton. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Miss Eldora Cushman of West Newton. Services, conducted by Mr. H. I. Hunt of the Christian Science Church, were held Sunday and burial was on Monday in the family lot at Wakefield, R. I.

LIGHTNING MADE A SNAPSHOT

Picture of Railroad Yards Formed on Window—Explanation Given by Photographer.

The recent stories of the picture of a wreath that appeared on a window pane in a Columbus residence, and which glass experts pronounced nothing more than a defect in the glass, which had been there from the time it was made, but only noticed after there had been a death in the residence, recalls to a prisoner in the penitentiary a similar case that came to his attention when he was employed by the Pennsylvania railroad at Altoona, Pa. It was traced to another though equally scientific cause. One night the private car of President Roberts of that railroad was shunted onto a siding in the yards at Altoona and before morning there came a heavy thunderstorm with intensely vivid lightning. Next morning when the cleaning crew began cleaning the car there was found on one of the window panes a very good picture of the yards that lay directly in front of it. It was just like a fairly well-developed photographic plate, and there could be no question but that the scene in the picture was the yards before it.

A photographer who was called to look at it, concluded that there had been a thin film of oil on the window, which in some way became sensitive to intense light and a flash of lightning had imprinted the scene before the window on the pane. —Columbus Dispatch.

CALLED DIRECT GIFT OF GOD

Arabs Have Pretty Legend Concerning the Origin of Their Famous Breed of Horses.

Abd-El-Kader, a man of rare intelligence, descendant of Mahomet and valiant leader of the Algerian tribes against the French for 15 years, wrote a book on the Arab horse. A French general once questioned him regarding the origin of that splendid breed and received the following reply, says Our Dumb Animals:

"Know, then, that among us it is admitted that God created the horse out of the winds and He created Adam out of the dust. This cannot be disputed. Many prophets have proclaimed that when God would create the horse He said to the south wind: 'I will bring forth out of thee a creature; be thou, therefore, condensed.'

"Then came the angel Gabriel, and, taking a handful of the matter, presented it to God, who formed therewith a brown bay horse and said: 'I name thee Horse and create thee Arab and give thee a bay color. I attach blessing to the forelock which falls between thine eyes; thou shalt be lord of all the animals. Thou shalt fly without wings, and from thy back shall proceed riches.' Then marked He him with a star on the forehead, the sign of glory and blessing."

War's Effect on Domestic Animals.

Even the cats and dogs of Central Europe have degenerated as a result of the war, says Prof. Balkanyi, director of the veterinary school of Budapest, who is investigating how the habits of domestic animals have been influenced by that cause. Most of the town-bred cats in this part of the world refuse to drink milk because it is unknown to them, due to lack of milk during the war, the professor asserts.

Both dogs and cats are relaxing to the savage ways of their untamed ancestors," he says. "The vagrancy of dogs is startling. Pet dogs elope from heart-broken mistresses, joining packs of many village dogs, where they live in communist equality."

The same authority says that, besides hydrophobia, nervous diseases are very frequent among animals. I am afraid domestic animals in eastern Europe are degenerating and that the stock must be replenished from overseas.—Exchange.

"Esq." Delayed His Mail.

If you want to be sure your letter will reach its destination without delay don't write "Esq." after the name of the addressee. This proved fatal in the case of a letter addressed recently to one Henry K. Smith. For days Smith, employed by a large concern, had been expecting this particular letter and several times during the course of his day's work he glanced vainly in the "S" box of the mail stand.

About four days after the letter had been delivered to the youthful mail clerk it came to the hands of Smith through a fellow employee named Erickson, who found it in the "E" cubby hole. The letter had been addressed to "Henry K. Smith, Esq." and the clerk had filed it under "E."

New Street-Car Idea.

The objections to the so-called "safety cars," which were introduced during the last few years, have been met in Seattle by the invention of what is called a one-man-two-man street car. The design of this car permits of its being operated in the slack hours by one man, while in the busy hours, with a little rearrangement of the interior, it is changed to make provision for the addition of a conductor. This is said to meet the great criticism of the "safety" in that so much time was lost in the stops when the single attendant was compelled to take the fares, answer the questions and attend to the various other matters, with the entrance of a group of passengers.

AMERICA'S GREATEST GAME

No, the greatest American game is not baseball, it is bluff—pretending to be what we are not and to have that which we don't possess.

Haven't you noticed that those who have money don't try to keep up appearances, in order to make an impression?

It's not "keeping up" but "getting ahead" that counts. The runner who merely keeps up doesn't win the race.

Frankly, we want to help those to get ahead who are not ashamed to sacrifice appearances for the sake of putting a dollar in their savings accounts.

Burying the Hatchet.

To bury the hatchet means to let bygones be bygones. The phrase originated among the North American Indians, who were commanded by the "Great Spirit," when they smoked their calumet or peace pipe, to bury their hatchets, scalping knives, and war clubs in the ground, so that all hostile thoughts might disappear. It was well-known that the presence of war weapons leads to war at times.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the twelfth day of September, A. D. 1921, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic a newspaper published in Newton the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Lawton, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this fourth day of August in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one.

F. M. ESTY, Register.

Aug. 12-19-26.

Notice is hereby given that the subscribers have been duly appointed executors of the will of Mary Stuart late of Newton, in the County of Middlesex, deceased, testate, and have taken upon themselves that trust by giving bond, as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are hereby required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

GEORGE A. STUART,
LILLIAN M. STUART,
Executors.

AUTO ACCIDENT

An automobile owned and operated by Isadore N. Bishop of 81 West street, Newton, Mass., went over Blacksmith Brook Bridge at Wells, Me., Sunday afternoon. The five occupants were thrown out and the car was wrecked. All escaped injury with the exception of a five-year-old boy, who received a bad cut on one arm. It was said that the view of the operator of the automobile was obstructed by one of the occupants of the car, who was attempting to adjust the windshield with the machine in motion.

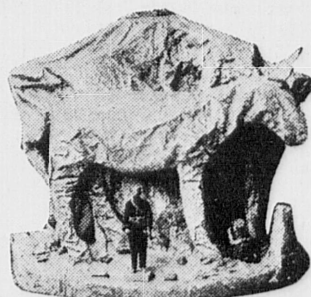

Mr. Bishop is a tailor with a shop at 361 Watertown street, Nonantum.

MR. ADAMS BURIED

Naval and aviation associates of Lieutenant Schuyler Adams, U. S. N., the son of Mr. Enoch C. Adams of West Newton, who met his death by accident at Portland, Me., were present last Friday afternoon at Mount Auburn Chapel, when funeral services took place. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Richard T. Loring, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Newtonville. The pall bearers were Taylor French, Henry MacLure, Thomas Gorham, Prescott Wellman, E. Melville Price, Edward H. Woods, Horace Wier Frost, Gardner Horsford Fiske and Robert Irwin. The body was cremated.

BANNER "BLUE LAW" CENTURY.

Seventeenth Saw Draught Rules Made for the Government of Manners and Morals.

The Seventeenth century, according to historians, was the banner for blue laws. Legislators vied with one another to win either the plaudits of the people or to provoke the wrath of the mobs by thinking up new measures for the statute books. One blue law in particular which coincides somewhat with some of the legislation rumored to be contemplated in this country is interesting. This was in the form of an ordinance in a Swiss city, and it virtually put such stage folk as jugglers, maskers, jumpers and "such like" out of business. They were prohibited from playing their profession, for the reason that "they do things which God did not intend the human race to perform."

Gambling was frowned upon throughout Europe during this period, but the blue laws did not seem to make much of an impression. It is to be also noted that a prohibition movement was alive in that period. Reformers were engaged at various times in efforts to stop drinking at taverns. In a little city in France the dry wave did not gain much headway, as the leaders turned to the alternative of reducing, or trying to reduce, drinking to a minimum on Saturday afternoons so that worshippers might attend evening services with full possession of their faculties.

SECOND BIRTH FOR JAPANESE

Burial of Nails, Teeth and Hair, and Change of Name Made Official Another Person.

The following item from the Japan Advertiser reveals one of the interesting peculiarities of national ideas and customs which continue to lend variety and interest to world civilization. "Burying themselves to escape death, and then being born again by the simple process of changing their names, Baron and Baroness Ban held full funeral services for themselves at the Gokurinsai temple in Nagoya recently, erecting a fully engraved tombstone over their nails, teeth and hair. The baron now calls himself Mr. Kogogureno Otou.

"When Baron Ban was 'first' born he was far from healthy, and 40 years was predicted as the extreme limit of his life. However, he recently celebrated his sixty-sixth birthday, which brought to his mind that his father had died at that age, and that he could probably best avoid his fate at an early death by bowing to that date and officially 'burying' as much of himself as possible without interfering with any of the vital processes."

Mice Made Robbery Possible.
"Church mice," notoriously poverty-stricken, occasionally are able to throw riches in the way of others. A thief entered St. Ignatius church, Baltimore, Md., the other night and stole valuable jewels from a safe in the rear of the altar. Inquiry at the rectory developed that to a little band of playful "church mice," now dead and forgotten by their brethren, may be traced the existence of circumstances which made it possible for the thief to strip the sacred vessels without detection. Many years ago a burglar alarm system was installed in St. Ignatius in anticipation of just such a visitation as the recent one. One night some mice established a contact with a concealed element of the alarm system and brought the priests and the police to the scene. The burglar alarm was disconnected to prevent a repetition of the false alarm. The view was taken by the priests that there was in existence scarcely a thief degraded enough to tamper with the consecrated vessels.

Legion Has 10,000 Posts.
The American Legion entered 1921 with virtually 10,000 posts, according to the estimates based on the latest figures. During the week ending December 10, 15 new posts were added which brought the total to 9,930. Arkansas led with three posts, says the Stars and Stripes. The Women's auxiliary in the same period obtained 27 new units, enlarging its list to 1,586. Four new units, gained by the New York department, placed that department in the lead for the week. Foreign posts added recently are at Chiquilamala, Chile, and Guatemala City, Guatemala.

Proposed Pipeline in the North.
The proposed pipeline to convey oil products from the Mackenzie river basin in northern Canada to Bering sea, from whence they would be carried by tankers to the markets of the world, would run from the Mackenzie river to the Yukon river systems by way of Rat river and Ball river, thence by the Porcupine and Yukon rivers to salt water. It is reported that sanction for the project will be sought from parliament. The strike at Fort Norman is said to be a rich flow.

Pledged to Use Irish Tongue.
In Ireland many persons are to be seen wearing a plain brass ring on their breast. It is known as "The Fainne," which is the Gaelic equivalent for "ring," and is the badge worn by those students of Gaelic who have attained a colloquial knowledge of the tongue which its advocates declare was for centuries in daily use in Ireland. The wearer of the badge pledges himself or herself to speak only Irish to those who are acquainted with that tongue.

DEATH OF MR. McCANDLISH

Mr. James McCandlish, a resident of this city for about thirty years, was taken suddenly ill in the South Station, while on his way home from business last Saturday, and died while being taken to the Relleg Hospital. The cause of death was heart trouble. Mr. McCandlish was born in Roxbury on July 2, 1856 and was the son of Thomas and Janet (Goldie) McCandlish. He was educated in the Boston schools and as a young man entered the employ of Brown, Durrell Company as a salesman. Subsequently he was admitted as a member of the firm.

In January, 1906, Mr. McCandlish left that establishment to become one of the founders of the firm of John R. Ainsley & Co. On Mr. Ainsley's death the concern was made over into a corporation and Mr. McCandlish was elected treasurer, which position he held until the time of his death. A widow survives him.

Funeral services were held from his late home, 24 Beaman road, Newton, on Tuesday afternoon and there was a large attendance of friends and business associates. Rev. Abbott Peterson of Brookline officiated, and the burial was at Forest Hills Cemetery.

DEATH OF MR. TREAT

Mr. George C. Treat, formerly of Frankfort, Me., and for many years a mining prospector of Baldev, Alaska, died last Saturday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Horace Wheelock, of 269 Highland street, in West Newton. He was born in Frankfort, on Aug. 11, 1853, the son of Captain Henry and Caroline (Boyd) Treat, and was educated in the schools of Bangor, Me., and at Westbrook Seminary, near Portland, Me. Later he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and afterward to California. Many years ago Mr. Treat went to Baldev, where he became a successful prospector. For the past few years since his return from Alaska he had made his home in Seattle, and because of his illness came to Boston about five months ago to be near his sister, with whom he made his home at the time of his death. Besides his sister, Mrs. Wheelock, Mr. Treat is survived by his wife, Mrs. Harriet B. (Cole) Treat, formerly of New York State, and a sister, Mrs. David Boody, of New York.

Mr. Treat was a brother of the late Hon. Charles H. Treat, who was United States Treasurer under the Administration of former President Theodore Roosevelt.

MILITARY FUNERAL

A military funeral for Sergt. John J. Curley, who was killed in action at Mont-Sec, France, while serving with company I, 325th infantry, was held from the Church of the Sacred Heart, Newton Centre, Sunday afternoon, August 7. The Rev. T. A. Curtin conducted the services, assisted by the Rev. Edward Murphy and the Rev. William J. Farrell, chaplain of Newton Post, A. L. Pallbearers were Frank McKean, Michael Salmon, William O'Donnell, William Watson and Harold Hockridge. Burial was in Hollywood cemetery, Chestnut Hill.

The casket was carried on a caisson to Hollywood Cemetery, with an escort of members of the Newton Post, A. L. in uniform. Rev. Fr. William Farrell, former chaplain of the 101st Regt. 26th Division, said the last prayers at the grave and a volley was fired, followed by taps by two buglers.

Sergt. Curley was the son of Michael and Anna Curley of 79 Manet road, Chestnut Hill, and was a graduate of Newton high school and Wentworth Institute. He is survived by his mother and father, four sisters and two brothers.

BLANCHARD-SMITH

Miss Marion C. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Smith of Lincoln street, Waltham, was married Saturday afternoon to Mr. Ralph F. Blanchard of West Newton. The Rev. Frederick H. Page, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Waltham, officiated at the double ring ceremony, which took place at the home of the bride.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The bridesmaid was Miss Alice Armstrong of Waltham, and the best man was Carl Blanchard, brother of the groom. The bride is a graduate of the Waltham high school, class of 1915, and of Simmons College, class of 1919. Since her graduation from college, Miss Smith has been employed at the Bureau of Standards, Washington. The groom is a graduate of the Waltham high school, class of 1917, and is employed by the Durand Co. of Boston. After a wedding trip the couple will live at 590 Newbury street, Boston.

NORUMBEGA PARK

One of the strongest vaudeville bills yet to be collected is scheduled at Norumbega Park this week. The old vaudeville team of Rice & Prevost comes back under the title of Prevost and Goulette comic eccentrics. Another act will be Bradbury & Corbett, society entertainers, giving parlor room vocal selections, and other musical numbers. Two other acts of almost equal importance will be incorporated in this bill and the picture for the first three days will be that big Frothingham special, released through the Associated Producers' Corp. known as "The Ten Dollar Raise." For the last three days will be seen one of Paramount's big super features such well known screen artists as Milton Sills and Elliot Dexter, known as "Behold My Wife," taken from Sir Gilbert Parker's famous novel, "The Translation of a Savage." The usual Norumbega attractions are still in great popularity as the afternoon and evening dansants in the popular priced restaurant.

Quill Toothpicks.

The most extensive quill toothpick factory in the world is near Paris, where there is an annual product of 30,000,000 quills. The factory was started to make quill pens, but when these went out of general use it was converted into a toothpick mill.—Brooklyn Eagle.

NAMES CHANGED

In the new Boston telephone directory, now being delivered, the Cambridge exchange is listed as "University," Medford is listed as "Mystic," Quincy is listed as "Granite" and Wakefield is listed as "Crystal." The exchange numbers have one or more zero prefixes to every telephone number below 1000 and at first glance have an odd appearance.

The reason for this, according to the telephone officials, is that during the early part of next year the first of the so-called machine switching central offices is to be placed in operation in Brookline. Other machine switching offices will follow in due course, although it will be a good many years before all of the offices, even in the Metropolitan Division are changed to that type of service.

Even with one such office to be considered, however, it was necessary to reset all numbers so that calls from that office, when ready for operation, could be made mechanically by the use of the dial attached to the telephone. It was deemed desirable, also, to make this change well in advance of the opening of the first mechanically operated exchange, in order that the public might become familiar with the appearance of the listings, and especially with the capitalization of the first three letters of the exchange name, because the letters so capitalized are the ones to be dialed when making a call for that particular listing.

The changes in exchange designations bear no immediate relation to the machine switching program. Cambridge is growing so rapidly that in about two years another central office will be necessary to serve subscribers there. The change is made now so that telephone users may become familiar with the name "University" before the second central office is opened. Another reason for the change at this time is that the calls dialed for Cambridge from a machine switching exchange would be confused with calls for Canton.

A similar method of procedure was followed in places like Worcester and Springfield when these municipalities outgrew a single office.

Medford is another fast growing suburban exchange. The first three letters of its name would conflict on a machine switching dial with that of another exchange in the Metropolitan Division. "Mystic," the new exchange name for subscribers in the Medford area was deemed appropriate, as it is also the name of a historic river running through Medford's valleys to Mystic Lake.

The first three letters in "Wakefield" conflict with the first three letters in "Waltham," and the Wakefield exchange in the future will be called after the well-known lake in that town.

The letter "Q" is used so infrequently in the names of cities and towns throughout the country that it does not appear on the standard machine switching telephone dial. The name of the Quincy exchange, therefore, has been changed to "Granite," because it is thus identified with one of the city's most important industries.

Neither Cambridge, Medford, Wakefield nor Quincy are to be immediately changed to machine switching offices. The probabilities are that not more than two, or possibly three, exchanges will be equipped for machine switching during 1922, and the indications are that a half score years or more will elapse before it will be possible to so equip the entire Metropolitan Division. Nevertheless, even with one machine switching office in operation, it was necessary to change these exchange designations and insert the zero prefixes, in order that subscribers in that exchange could make calls for other exchanges.

Until next year, when the first machine switching office is opened, all telephone calls should be given to the operators exactly as at present, except that the new exchange names, as they appear in the directory, should be used. Until next year, also, the zeros which have been prefixed to numbers may be disregarded and calls made exactly as if these zero prefixes did not exist.

THE NEWTON COMMUNITY HOUSE

At the residence of Rev. A. Virgess Hill, 1445 Washington street, West Newton, on May 27, 1921, a number of men met and organized themselves into a body to do civic, educational and charitable work under the name of the Newton Community House. The purpose of this house is to better the social conditions in the Newtons. This house will have attached to it an Employment Bureau, Boy Scouts, Sewing Circles for Girls, Literary Classes and a Library. We purpose to broaden and deepen the spirit of co-operation and brotherly love; furthermore, we want to aid the education of boys and girls, enabling them to get the most out of their lives, thereby contributing something to human life. We would not attempt to do this work, but we have seen that the need is great. Youths in possession of talent and personality simply need directing and development, and we feel that the work of this Community House will meet that situation. We are asking for the co-operation of all in the Newtons. As the operation of such a house in the community cannot but help to make a better community, we would like the people of this community to help us to purchase this house because it is going to serve the community for the best interest. Help! Help! Public Drive Saturday, Sept. 10.

Freshen Roses.

Roses will give much greater return if, before they are put into the water, the ends of the stems are crushed or mashed. Then when the rose wilts cut off the end of the stem, slit it in half for about one half inch, hold the ends in boiling water for a few minutes, then plunge the stems in cold water. The rose will be as fresh as new. Do this at night and let the roses stand in a deep pitcher of water all night before placing them in the vase.

"As Fine as Silk"

Some New York merchants were gathered around a luncheon table "talking shop." A silk merchant admitted conditions with him were "rotten," following which his right-hand neighbor, a leather dealer, remarked that his business was "as fine as silk."—Boston News Bureau.

A Big New Lemon.

A new lemon called the Ponderosa, is now being cultivated. It grows to the size of grapefruit and, although its flavor is rather mild, may be used in every way in which ordinary lemons are used.

No. S194
 Commonwealth of Massachusetts
 LAND COURT

To the Newton Trust Company, a duly existing corporation having an usual place of business in Newton, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth; Christine R. Thompson, of said Newton; Alice C. Dunham, of Brookline, in the County of Norfolk and said Commonwealth; and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Ben Ames Williams, of said Newton, to register and confirm his title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situate in said Newton, bounded and described as follows:

Southwesterly by Prospect Park one hundred ninety (190) feet; Northwesterly by land of Christine R. Thompson one hundred nineteen and 1/100 (119.01) feet; Northeastly by land of said Christine R. Thompson and of Alice C. Dunham, one hundred eighty three and 19/100 (183.19) feet; Easterly by land of said Alice C. Dunham one hundred three and 29/100 (103.29) feet; and Southeasterly by land of said Alice C. Dunham one hundred two and 80/100 (102.80) feet.

Petitioner claims as appurtenant to the above described land usual passageway rights over the right of way shown on lot forty nine (49) on plan hereinafter mentioned and similar rights over the right of way on the easterly side of lot forty four (44) shown on said plan; and petitioner admits said land is subject to usual passageway rights over the right of way shown on part of the northerly side of lot fifty (50), as shown on said plan.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the sixth day of September, A. D. 1921 at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this tenth day of August in the year nineteen hundred and twenty-one.

REAL ESTATE for SALE and WANTED

The banks pay you 4 1/2 per cent for your money. They loan the same money for from 10 per cent to 30 per cent. You pay your landlord 30 per cent profit on his investment. At the same time the banks tell you that it is a bad time to buy a home, they want your money at 4 1/2 per cent. The facts are that there is no building, and no skilled labor out of employment or to be had. There is no building material in stock. There will be no building until the spring of 1922. The contractor and builder is charging you war time prices. They pay their labor 10c an hour less than in war times. In the spring labor will be higher than in war times; material of all kinds higher and scarce. It is inevitable that prices in 1922 must be higher. To my mind there was never a more favorable time to purchase a home than the present time. I have a large variety. Please call or phone for particulars.

FLORIDA AS IS

It was late that night before we sought our berths for what was to be the last night in our special Pullman train, and some of the cars held a good natured "rough house" to celebrate the occasion.

We reached Fort Lauderdale in time for a good breakfast at the hotel after which we enjoyed a ride about the little city, which impressed me as having a great future both as a winter resort and as a business centre.

One of the few remaining camps of the Seminole Indians, the original inhabitants of Florida is at Fort Lauderdale and it is one of the sights of the place, albeit, the Indians themselves are so shy that only a few of them are ever seen. They live in odd looking, conical shaped huts, one side of which is wide open to the view.

The women and children we saw were clad in brilliantly colored dresses, of all colors of the rainbow, the little children looking particularly odd in skirts which almost touched the ground. There is a small alligator farm also in connection with the Indian village.

Lauderdale Beach is, like all the other Florida beaches on the ocean side of the inevitable island and on the way there we stopped for a few minutes at a bend in the New River and caught sight of several silver tarpon jumping about in the water. Just before we crossed the river to the island, we were shown a real estate development which seemed almost impossible. The owners had taken a piece of swamp land, covered with rough-looking, scrub trees, cleared it and then had literally pumped sand up from the bottom of the river, filled the entire area and laid it out in house lots. They only asked $5000 for a lot 50 by 150 feet and had sold 24 lots out of 30 within 60 days. We saw a $7500 house going up on one of these lots, the only signs of life on the whole development.

Lauderdale has a good beach more like the beaches on the South shore of Cape Cod. There is splendid bathing, the water being always warm, as the Gulf Stream is only two miles off the shore.

The city has reserved a strip of land 100 feet wide right across the island—a wise provision for the future altho it ought to have been two or three times that width.

We were served with an excellent outdoor lunch here, the principal feature being an unlimited amount of

ATHLETIC MEET

Most Successful Event Held at Newton Centre Playground

The playground festival and athletic meet, favored by unusually fine weather on the Newton Centre Playground offered a lively and colorful picture from early morning hours until dark. Every moment was filled with some event, fascinating and attractive to youngsters and their people. It is estimated that over 5,000 people were on the grounds during the day. During the afternoon when the contests and demonstrations were at their highest about 3,000 people were on the grounds at one time. A great many parents were on hand to witness the contests of their children or to enjoy the work and the demonstrations. The whole inside of the quarter-mile track was roped off, transformed by markings and other devices into game courts, racing lanes and jumping pits. From 3 to 6 athletic events were conducted in approved athletic meet style at one and the same time. From 11 to 4 and again from 6 to 8.30.

These athletic events were alternated with demonstrations of Mothercraft work, Health work, dodge ball, fist ball, iron quit, and croquet tournaments. There was a very large and interesting exhibit of hand-work, about 500 children having sent their best piece of hand-work to this exhibition. The parents and interested educators gave this exhibit a most hearty approval.

His Honor, Mayor Childs, Playground Commissioners, Charles F. Johnson, Jr., and Thomas J. Lyons, Mr. George Wright, the famous baseball veteran, Mr. Joseph B. Jamieson and Rev. Fr. Haney were among those who followed all events with keenest interest and remained until the last event of the afternoon.

At the distribution of prizes, Mr. Johnson, Mayor Childs, Mr. Wright and Mr. Lyons gave their heartiest approval and had something to say to encourage the boys to indulge in wholesome sports.

Mrs. Hull, Secretary of the Welfare Bureau, and Mrs. Seaver in charge of the Health Work, explained the Health work which was conducted under the auspices of the Welfare Bureau this summer. Mayor Childs presented the gold stars to the winners. Miss Kent was in charge of the demonstration of Mothercraft work and Mayor Childs again presented 300 youngsters with their diplomas for the successful completion of the course.

There were over a thousand entries in the athletic events which meant the participation of over 800 children in actual contest.

grape fruit, which were so sweet that you sucked them as you would an orange.

Fort Lauderdale, county seat of Broward County, Florida, is justly called "The Gateway to the Everglades," that vast expanse of fertile prairie land that, through countless ages, has been in the process of making by Mother Nature, for through Fort Lauderdale flows the waters of the two longest and most important canals that assist in the reclamation of the Everglades.

Eight years ago Fort Lauderdale was a little hamlet of less than two hundred and fifty inhabitants, a flag station on the railroad like thousands of flag stations on other railroads. Today she is a business center for about eight thousand people.

The climate of Fort Lauderdale is nearer to the ideal than that of southern California or Italy. Rarely, indeed, does the summer temperature rise above 90 degrees, or the winter temperature fall below 45. The phenomenal effects of the Gulf Stream and the trade winds are observed here as, perhaps, they are not elsewhere, and because of these two natural phenomena the heat of summer, which might be very high, is reduced to an average of 80 degrees, and the chill of winter is almost entirely eliminated, giving an average of about 67 degrees.

Trade winds blow constantly from the ocean, tempering and cleansing the atmosphere, making a suffocating and sleepless night a thing unknown. Unlike southern California, where the winter is the rainy season, here the winter is dry. Day after day the sun shines with brilliancy, permeating one's being with the very joy of living. No fogs, no mists, no storms.

New River Sound has for years been looked upon by engineers as the best place on the southeast coast of Florida for a harbor, where Nature has so arranged things that the cost of building and maintenance are at the minimum. Surveys have shown that New River Sound would be deep enough for fair-sized ocean-going vessels, once the silt deposited by the river was removed. Engineers have also stated that by the construction of jetties reaching out a short distance from shore, the current from the river, coupled with the strong flow of tide, would make the minimum cost to maintain depth very low.

CAMP FRANK A. DAY CLOSES

Camp Frank A. Day closed on August 19th after an unusually successful season. The climax came on Wednesday evening, August 17th, when the annual banquet was held, and a great deal of camp spirit was shown by all the boys. Cups and prizes were given out, and announcements were made.

The toast-master was Mr. C. C. Noble, director of the Camp. The speakers were: F. E. Doubleday, Asst. Director, C. T. Smith, camp doctor, J. Wilson, P. Blake, H. Wightman, D. Cunningham, D. Hall, and W. Sharp, senior leaders.

The banquet itself was enjoyed very much by the boys and it consisted of tomato soup, roast chicken, mashed potatoes, green peas, sweet corn, ice cream, cakes, cookies, olives, salted nuts, hot chocolate, ginger ale, and candy.

The results of the camp voting were announced as follows: most popular camper, Jimmie Hoyt, most helpful camper, J. Albee, camp bunk-stretcher, W. Robinson, most respected camper, Jimmie Hoyt, camp bluffer, Moore, neatest camper, Breed, best

The banquet was proclaimed by all to be a great success, and a good time was enjoyed by all, particularly Sam Moore, who said it was his idea of heaven and who made a little speech on his own account. By ten o'clock everyone was through eating, and the boys retired for the night.

A very interesting gathering was held at Camp Frank A. Day about a week before it closed when the campers in the cottages on the three lakes held a reunion at the Camp. This has been an annual custom for a number of years. Senator Tarbell, and Mayor Sullivan of Worcester were speakers, and in behalf of the campers presented a beautiful silver cup with a check for $50 inside to show their good will toward the leaders and the campers. This came as a complete surprise and it has not been decided just what improvement for the Camp will be purchased with the money.

"ORPHEUS" PRESENTED AT CAMP YOKUM

More than 100 girls, many from Newton, Newton Centre, Newton Highlands, West Newton and Newtonville, and numbers from towns throughout the state of Massachusetts participated in the portrayal in song and movement of the Gluck Opera "Orpheus" at Camp Yokum, Becket, Mass., Saturday afternoon, August 20 at 4 o'clock. The Opera was produced under the direction of Elise Dufour of the school of Rhythmic Art of New York City, assisted by Christine Schellbach, pianist of the Faelton Piano-forte School of Boston, Prof. Franz Bornschein, violinist, of the Peabody Conservatory of Music, Baltimore, and Miss Frances Rimbach, dramatic teacher at the Camp and resident of Newtonville. The effort represented an attempt to bring together into one big creative piece the work of each of the girls in camp. The girls dyed and made their own costumes, built properties, sang in the chorus or danced in the various scenes. Among those who took leading parts were Miss Ruth Pigeon, 260 Lake street, Newton Highlands, who was one of the Furies in the second scene; Miss Eleanor Young, 1120 Centre street, Newton Centre, who danced in the last scene, the Elysian Fields; and Miss Leora Bacon, 354 Waltham street, West Newton, who was one of the leading voices in the chorus. Mary Love Pullman and Elizabeth, also of Newton, assisted in making effective the "living curtain,"—trees carried by lines of girls,—which was an unique contribution to the art of the open-air theatre.

Other events connected with the closing festivities were the swimming contests, the Mother Goose Opera and the traditional Magic Ring.

First Use of Music Notes.

It is not known exactly. In the first half of the Thirteenth century notes of definite length were introduced. The first real school of composition was in Flanders, William Du Fay being the first of the composers of this school. He was born shortly before 1400 and died in 1474.

SELWYN THEATRE—These August nights find the Selwyn theatre in Boston filled with laughter as that theatre is tenanted by Gilda Varesi in Brock Pemberton's Production of "Enter Madame," that wholly delightful and diverting comedy which for 43 weeks of the recent theatrical year in New York, was an outstanding success. Coming to the Hub City, for a limited engagement, as an early season attraction, Miss Varesi and her irresistibly appealing play (of which she is the author) found immediate and lasting favor with Bostonian theatregoers. Miss Varesi will be recalled by our theatregoers as a featured member of the companies supporting Mrs. Fiske and Doris Keane. With the latter, Miss Varesi appeared in "Romance," originating the part of the old opera singer, and in London, playing Miss Keane's role during the star's vacation. In 1919 Miss Varesi appeared as the blind girl in "The Jest" and while John Barrymore was abroad she assumed his role in the piece. Henry Stephenson, Jane Meredith and Michele Burani are the principal figures of a very, very good supporting cast. Matinee performances of "Enter Madame" are given on Wednesday and Saturday.

Y. M. C. A. BASEBALL

The Newton "Y" baseball team journeyed to Dorchester last Saturday and defeated the strong St. Mark's Catholic Club to the tune of 9 to 5. The local team played like big leaguers giving Lonergan, who pitched a fine game excellent support and hitting the ball for 16 safe hits. The game was replete with features, the first of which was a home run in the second inning by Trulson playing second base for Newton. This clout started a bombardment that resulted in five runs. Pierotti covering right field for Newton featured with a circus catch of a long fly ball crashing into the wire fence as he picked off the "apple" thus preventing a rally. Gullan, playing centre field for Newton also came into the limelight by making the most spectacular catch of the day, when with one man on he went after one labeled for four cushions gathering it in with a left back hand catch that would equal some of Hooper's best performances. These outstanding features combined with high class pitching by Lonergan and the hard hitting and air-tight fielding by the team as a whole spelled defeat for the Dorchester team which is rated among the best teams in semi-pro circles.

Games of special local interest have been booked with the Saxony and West Newton Town teams to be played next month. The management is anxious to book the Legion team also and any other local team interested in the city title.

BUFFALO ON THE INCREASE

Latest Reports Show That the Animal Is Not Likely to Become Extinct, at Any Rate.

The fear that existed not long ago lest the native buffalo would soon become extinct is dispelled by a report of the American Bison society, which states that there were 3,393 wild and tame buffalo in the United States in January, 1920. This is an increase of about 300 per cent since 1908, in which year there were 1,116 wild and tame buffalo in this country.

Of the nine government-owned herds, two of the largest under the care of the United States Department of Agriculture are located in the Wichita national game preserve, Oklahoma, and on the national bison range at Dixon, Mont. The herd on the Wichita preserve now numbers 154, including 28 calves of this year. In this herd four bulls and 12 cows are ten years of age or over, and one cow is twenty-nine years old. The 15 animals that constituted the original Wichita herd came from the New York Zoological park.

It is planned this year to dispose of some of the surplus buffalo in the government herds in accordance with the provisions made by the 1919 appropriation bill for their care. Public parks and municipalities are the largest patrons. By distributing the animals over the country, if disease or misfortune overtakes the main herds, there still will be stock left with which groups could be built up again.

WHY DRUGGISTS ARE BALD

Seemingly Their Duties Are Manifest, if They Would Satisfy Their Various "Customers."

"Now, what do you think of that?" said the druggist's clerk. "She wanted to know what Thanksgiving is for. Some people think a drug store is an information bureau."

"The other day a woman came in and wanted to know who discovered America. She said she had an argument with a friend about it, and they decided I must be the referee."

He had perched himself on top of a ladder and was trying to juggle three or four boxes at a time when a woman came in and after waiting a minute to be waited on knocked on the counter.

"I want a two-cent stamp in a hurry," she said. He gave her the stamp and made change from a $5 bill.

"Would you please give me the same kind of medicine that you gave to my mother the last time she came in?" she said.

"Who is your mother?" he asked. "You know my mother—the fat lady that always buys a bottle of soda every night."

Various Causes of Death.

It is illuminating to read the causes of death. In 1917—a typical year in which the figures were not complicated by the war—14.2 of every thousand persons in the United States died; out of every hundred thousand deaths 153.2 were from diseases of the heart, 149.8 from pneumonia, 146.4 from tuberculosis, 107.4 from kidney troubles, 82.9 from apoplexy, 81.6 from cancer, 79 from diarrhoea, 25.3 from diseases of the arteries, 17.2 from influenza, 16.9 from diabetes, 16.5 from diphtheria, 16.3 from bronchitis, 10.8 from accidents of all sorts. Arterial diseases and diabetes show an increase that is really alarming; for in 1900 only 6.1 per 100,000 died of the former and only 9.7 the latter. These, with those of the heart and kidneys, are diseases that result directly from the strain and stress of modern life. —Popular Science Monthly.

The Sick Miner.

Judge Elbert H. Gary, on his return from Europe, discussed the English coal strike at a luncheon.

"The men demanded an unconditional two-shilling increase," he said, "but the government couldn't very well grant them that, because each former increase had been followed by a decrease of output. So many miners you see found that they could make enough in three or four days to keep them all the week."

"So many miners, in fact, were like the sick miner. As the sick miner, pale and drawn, lay in his bed the doctor entered."

"The doctor examined him and then said:

"I prescribe complete rest. You tired yourself out in the last strike."

Gave to "Unworthy Poor."

A Missouri man has left a will establishing a fund for the aid of the poor of his town, Eldorado Springs, Mo., every Christmas. It is especially suggested that the gifts be distributed to unfortunate persons, "whether they are worthy or unworthy according to the standards of society."

Those in a position to give money to fellow beings in misfortune so long have insisted that the poor to be aided must be "worthy" that it is a great relief to find one man who does not attach the obnoxious string to his act of generosity. The ne'er-do-well with an empty stomach probably feels just as hungry as the pious person whose fortunes have fallen.—Detroit Free Press.

War Memorial on Mountain.

The furious battles fought during the war on the Hartmannswillerkopf, in Alsace, will be commemorated by the erection upon its apex of a huge cross which will be visible from the Rhine valley. The monument will be erected on a portion of the summit of the mountain which will be considered as sacred ground.

DOG HATERS "CALLED DOWN"

Writer in New York Newspaper Says Some Harsh Things About Enemies of the Canine Race.

A story calculated to make dog haters grit their teeth finds its way into print, remarks the New York Tribune. An East side collie awakened his master, told him things were not as they should be, and then secured a prompt turning in of a fire alarm, which saved many lives.

At rare intervals a case of rabies develops. With this as a basis the dog haters have secured a code whose severity is such that once in a while it naturally breaks down some dog's nervous system. Leashed and wearing a mask or jaw straps, man's best friend is denied a normal life. If, his patience exhausted and his temper frayed, he bites anything, no matter whether by accident or with ample justification, he is thrown into jail without trial. Not satisfied with this, there is a constant outcry for a practical extermination of the species, with only enough left to provide raw material for vivisectionists.

Yet if a score were kept showing in one column the number of human lives man's devoted servitor has saved and in another the number in anywise lost through him, the disproportion in favor of the dog would be great. A dogless civilization would be one wherein life insurance rates would be raised.

The psychology of the dog hater has never been satisfactorily explained. He exists—that is all we know about him. He can scarcely be said to take pleasure in his malignancy, for he is gloomy and somber, yet he stubbornly clings to his frenzy, putting in time inventing calumnies which one look into a dog's honest and loyal eyes sufficiently refute.

FATHER OF MODERN SPINNING

Invention of Samuel Crompton, Englishman, of Immense Importance to the Western World.

At one time muslins were imported from India for the reason that English spinners were unable to produce yarn fine enough for the manufacture of such delicate fabrics.

The invention of Arkwright, by which spinning with rollers was used, and Hargreaves, with his spinning Jenny, led the way for Crompton to combine both of those inventions in his mule, thereby enabling spinners to draw out long threads in large numbers to more tenacity than had ever been done by the East Indians.

This invention enabled Lancashire to assume the first place as cotton spinner to the world. Samuel Crompton was born December 3, 1753, at Firwood. He came of the farming class and had rather a good education. On the death of his father his mother carried on the farm and set Samuel to spinning at home. Five years after his majority he completed his mule, "his mind during that time being in continual endeavor to realize a more perfect principle of spinning."

This he did at the expense of every shilling he had; and he gave his invention to the world, but in such a way that he gained no credit. Years afterward his statue was erected in Bolton.—Chicago Journal.

Make Your Mind Your Klondike.

Every man has a rich mine of precious ores if he wants to work it. The other day the news went out that great oil fields had been discovered in Klondike, the land famous for gold. The papers say men are rushing to stake claims as they did in the palmy days of the gold craze, and there will be many who will part with all they have and make their way to what promises to be a quick fortune. In the last rush the way to Dawson City had many a ghastly group of bleached bones when the snows of winter melted away. The chances are this present craze will duplicate the scene. Only a few of the many make money. It will ever be thus as long as men try to win by chance the riches that usually come by toil.—Grit.

GARDEN NEWS STORY

Gardeners who have planted second crops are more likely to neglect them than those vegetables which are planted earlier in the spring. Late crops will not grow without cultivation and plant food any more than those which are planted earlier. The fact a previous crop has already been taken from the piece makes it especially important that additional plant food in the form of fertilizer or manure be added to the soil.

Root crops cannot develop rapidly if the ground is hard. For this reason cultivation is essential as well as for the purpose of retaining what moisture is in the soil.

This is a good time to make a fall planting of spinach. It will grow fast enough to be available for food during October and early November and what is left will start early in the spring and be ready for greens before any other garden vegetables are up.

Any area in the garden which is not producing a crop should be seeded down to a cover crop at this season of the year. Clover may be sown with rye to increase the value of the cover crop since it is a nitrogen gathering plant. Red clover should be used on light soil and Alike clover on heavy soil. The sowing of a cover crop is for the purpose of providing humus in which most garden soils are deficient.

The filing of the petition which will send the movie censorship bill to the people at the state election in November, 1922, means that we shall have a splendid opportunity to see how much influence the moving picture houses can have on a political issue. We predict that for the next year the moving picture magnates will see to it that all objectionable films of all kinds will be kept out of the state, and that moving picture audiences will be daily importuned to vote against the ratification of the bill in question.

Regardless of the result of the recent inquest in which Attorney General J. Weston Allen of this city and District Attorney Tufts were the principal characters, there can be no question but what Mr. Allen has rendered the Commonwealth a real and substantial service in showing up the methods pursued by some members of the Massachusetts Bar and has undoubtedly paved the way for the passage at the next session of the Legislature of his bill to require the assent of a presiding judge before any district attorney can not pro a case. If it should also lead to a change whereby by district attorneys and other court officials were appointed by the governor instead of being elected by the people it would be a long step in the right direction.

LOYAL LEAGUE

I am very glad to make a report of the work done by the Loyal League in the Newton Schools the past year. Before making a report, however, I think it would be well to explain the League.

The Loyal League is composed of seventh and eighth grade pupils in the grammar schools, who pledge allegiance to the Flag. They are asked to take part in a contest by writing an essay on a given subject of historical interest once a year. The work is under the direction of the Daughters of the Revolution.

The essays are written as part of the regular school work. Thereby being a help to both teachers and pupils by providing a good subject and inspiring an interest. The object is to stimulate reading of historical subjects among children of that age, and to increase their love for America.

Last winter the subject for the essays was "Alexander Hamilton," with sub-topics as follows: "Facts concerning his early services to the Government," "Career as a General," "Financial Genius of the Country," "Later services to the Government."

A beautiful silver medal was awarded to the prize winner in each school participating. After which the prize essay from each school was taken to Mr. Wheeler. After careful reading Mr. Wheeler chose the best essay of all and a very beautiful solid gold medal, given by the National Society, Daughters of the Revolution, was awarded to the school (for one year) presenting the prize essay. This last year the gold medal was won by the Horace Mann School. Next spring we will be very interested to know which school has the gold medal in its keeping.

Last year we were very happy to place over 1,000 pledges as follows: Stearns school, 200; Pierce school, 200; Bigelow school, 200; Horace Mann and Claflin schools, 175; Burr school, 125; Emerson school, 80; Hamilton school, 15.

When the prizes were awarded we found the principals and teachers very enthusiastic and hoping for even better results next year.

Chairman, Loyal League Committee of Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R.

DEATH OF FORMER RESIDENT

Mr. Frank W. Pevear died on Sunday at White Plains, N. Y. Mr. Pevear was 67 years of age. He was a native of Lynn, son of the late George F. and Sarah A. Pevear, and his early life was spent in that city. Later he lived in West Newton and Brooklyn, prior to removing to White Plains. He was the head of the wall paper department of John Wanamaker's New York store. He is survived by one son, Selwyn Pevear of White Plains, and one daughter, Mrs. Euphemie C. Dow of West Newton.

MR. YOUNG'S WILL

William B. Young of Newton Centre, who died July 27, remembered a number of institutions in his will which has been filed for probate in the East Cambridge Court. The sum of $1,000 each is left to the Perkins Institute for the Blind, Industrial School for Crippled and Deformed Children, Boston Floating Hospital, First Baptist Church of Newton Centre, and the Newton Centre Unitarian Society. Red Acre Farm, at Stow, is given $2,000; and $500 is bequeathed to the Mothers' Rest at Newton Centre.

SPECIAL MEETING OF ALDERMEN

By direction of His Honor the Mayor, a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held Wednesday evening at 7.45. Fourteen aldermen were present, with Aldermen Blake, Carter, Hickey, Jewell, Melcher, Morse and Nichols absent.

The meeting was held to take action on the following: for additional appropriations. Overdrafts, 1896, 18, 19, 20, $7,581.19, for Treasury department, school loans, $200, for City Messenger department for repairing flag staff at Newtonville square, $110.00, which were granted. An order for additional appropriation of $425.00 to connect the Portable Building at Davis School with water and sewer was considered but not passed by the board.

An order was passed by the board opposing all applications for billboard locations on Walnut street, Beacon street, Washington street, and Commonwealth avenue.

It was voted to tear down the Roger Wolcott School building; an order was passed for a hearing on Sept. 12 upon proposed widening of Charlesbank road, acquiring land therefor, etc.; applications of George F. Wales, et al. for permits for garages were granted. The following traverse jurors were drawn: William R. Perry and William P. Leavitt of Newton for Superior Court at Cambridge, Sept. 6, and George P. Ryan of Newton and Thos. P. Newman of Auburndale for Superior Court (criminal) at Lowell, Sept. 12.

The Board received from the registrars of voters, jury list for 1921-1922. The Board adjourned at 10 o'clock.

Should Never Have Left Sarah.

"My dear," said an old lady, "I felt I ought never to have taken the hotel. Scarcely had I set foot in my apartments when I was handed a telegram from Sarah. 'Parrot laid an egg. Wire instructions.'"

Festival of the Quail.

In the Mediterranean, no bird is better known than the quail. Twice a year he passes over the great inland sea. His coming is quite a festival, and many an outstanding bill and many a peasant's overdue rent is paid at his expense.

Pagan Creed Concerning Fire.

That fire and water are the habitations of spirits is perhaps a universal article of the pagan creed. The sacred ever-burning hearth fire was, in primitive days reckoned the special abode of the household gods; it was, therefore, considered dangerous to give a stranger a burning brand.

English Language Gaining.

To the observing student of the times, one of the wonders of this age is the spread of the English language. At the present time it is spoken by nearly 200,000,000 people. Each year adds a long list to the English-speaking world. Not many know that in the Philippines today more people speak the English language than spoke Spanish after 300 years under Spanish dominion.

Quality of Foods.

Hard foods are a necessary part of a hygienic diet. The teeth need exercise, it must be remembered. Therefore, one way of keeping teeth in good condition is to eat hard foods, such as breadcrumbs, toast, hard fruits, nuts and fibrous vegetables. Hard food causes the saliva and gastric juice to flow. If in addition to being hard the food is dry, the greater the flow of the saliva and gastric juice.

A Possible Ancestor.

J. W. Gidley, a scientist of the Smithsonian Institution, has dug up a possible ancestor of man in central Montana. That is to say, he came across the skull of a small animal which unquestionably belongs to the great tribe that includes ourselves and the monkeys. The teeth prove it. The animal was not, however, a monkey. So far as known, there never were any monkeys within the limits of what is now the United States.

Galosh Not Modern Footwear.

The modern galosh is but the grandchild of a long line of strong, sturdy ancestors from the boots of Captain Kidd down. The boot wearing fever got so bad in England once that parliament had to be petitioned to restrict the making of boots. "The merchant and mechanic walk in boots," so read the complaint, and "many of our clergy in shoes and galoshes. University scholars maintain the fashion likewise. Attorneys, lawyers, clerks, serving men all delight in this wasteful wantonness."

Polar Bear Can Swim.

The Polar bear is as fine a swimmer as a seal, and behaves, in the ice-cold seas of the north, with as much unconcern as though it had been born in that element, writes Dr. R. W. Shufeldt in the American Forestry Magazine. It has been known to drift for miles upon a floating iceberg, and this evidently, for pleasure and convenience, rather than from necessity, as a number of Arctic explorers have reported having seen Polar bears, hale and hearty, swimming in the open ocean all the way from 40 to 80 miles from land.

HOT WATER ALWAYS AT HAND

Continuous Flow of Boiling Liquid and Steam From the Innumerable Geysers of Iceland.

The hot-water fountains of Iceland are on mounds averaging seven feet in height, the top of each of which forms the edge of a sort of basin. From these basins the steam of boiling water can be seen rising and the overflow of water is continuous. The contents of these basins is as clear as crystal and one can see to a great depth, while just below the surface are many wonderfully beautiful white incrustations, to obtain samples of which many a visitor to Iceland has burned his fingers. The petrifications caused by the boiling water streams from the geysers include birch and willow leaves, grass and rushes seemingly converted into marble.

At no time is it entirely safe to loiter in the vicinity of one of these bottomless basins, for the geyser has a way of spouting and gives no advance warning. Sometimes there will be a shoot of boiling water to a height of 15 feet, followed by a succession of jets. The highest shoot of which there is any record was 90 feet.

Occasionally a basin will for some unexplained reason become entirely empty, or will give forth a "steam shoot," which, in the form of a column of spray and vapor at least 60 feet in height, presents a really magnificent spectacle.

TO REMOVE TATTOO MARKS

Process is by No Means Easy, Though Modern Science Has Shown It to Be Practicable.

Tattooing is the mechanical introduction of pigments under the skin and a very well-known process. The pigments employed are carbon, cinnabar, carmine and indigo.

Most methods employed to remove these marks, says Science and Invention, are by a reactive and a destructive inflammation which will result in the formation of a crust, later cast off together with tattooed markings. One method is to retattoo the marks with a solution of 30 parts of zinc chloride and 40 parts of water. A mild inflammation will result; a crust forms and about a week later this falls off, leaving a scar which gradually heals. Later a repetition of this may be necessary. This may be done by the professional tattooer.

The second method is to tattoo again, making the punctures close together after the design has been drawn over with a concentrated solution of tannin. A stick of silver nitrate is then firmly drawn over the surface and after a period of several minutes it is then wiped off. This is far more effective than the first and less scar forms. Two other substances, perhaps more efficient than either of the above, and applied in the same manner as the first, are carbol and glycerole of papoid.

Skin Thick on Palms.

Among other interesting facts that have been determined by the tireless investigating scientists is this: That the skin on the palm of the hand is normally 20 times as thick as the skin on the eyelids. The palms of the workman are even thicker.

The postal authorities recently arrested some fraudulent promoters and seized their beautifully engraved certificates, and what was reported to be "the most valuable list in existence."

That list contained the names of 100,000 people who had a reputation for being "suckers."

Of course your name isn't on that list, but ARE YOU SURE that your money can't be lured into companies whose assets are only beautifully engraved certificates?

Do you realize that your money is ABSOLUTELY SECURE when deposited here and that anytime you ask for it you can get it back, plus the interest earned?

Omnivorous Codfish.

That the codfish is omnivorous is shown by the fact that, in addition to the crustaceans, small fish and sea moss which it eats, all sorts of things have been found in its stomach, such as small scissors, corn cobs, rubber dolls and pieces of clothing.

Progenitor of the Galosh.

The great-grandfather of the galosh was the Englishman's jack boot, black as the leather bottles from which he drank his ale—solid and unpliable as iron, square-toed and clumsy. Even the purest of Puritans strode the streets with this one frivolity of dress flaring at the tops. It wasn't the "wearing of boots" that was the abuse, mourned one commentator upon this style, "but the generality of the wearing and the manner of cutting boots out with huge, slovenly, immoderate tops."

STORY OF A

A man sat in our office a few days ago talking about buying a home. A part of the money he wanted to use was invested in stock of a Manufacturing Company, a perfectly good company, paying dividends on the stock. He had paid $500 for the stock and now wants to sell it but can get only $400 for it. He says that hereafter his savings are going into the savings bank where he can.

RICH ASIA MINOR PROVINCE

Smyrna, Blessed With a Fertile Soil and Temperate Climate, is Pleasant Dwelling Place.

The modern province of Smyrna is the most favored of all the provinces of Asia Minor. It contains three of the most considerable rivers of the country, including the Meander, whose serpentine course has given the English language an expressive verb. Fertile soil and temperate climate have added to the region's attractions, while the possession of a port and city—the city of Smyrna—unequaled by any other in Asia Minor has contributed another immeasurably important asset. Though imperfectly tilled during its control by Turkey, the province of Smyrna has nevertheless been noted for its fine fruits. For a long time it has furnished the best figs and raisins which reach the markets of Europe.

Poets and travelers have sung and told of the beauties of the city of Smyrna throughout the ages. The nucleus nestles in the lowlands about its harbor, and behind, the city rises tier above tier against the neighboring highlands. Unlike many cities that have survived for long ages, Smyrna has retained the same name from the dawn of history. This city should be dear to the heart of the modern feminist, for it took its name from an Amazon who is reputed to have played an important part in its early life.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

FORTUNE AWAITS LUCKY ONES

Prospecting for Radium in Madagascar is Latest Lure Held Out to the Enterprising.

The exciting days of prospecting in Cripple Creek or Alaska may be over, but anyone who is looking for experience and is willing to suffer a few discomforts for the chance of gaining a fortune can do so in Madagascar, according to Secretary LaCroc of the French Academy of Science, who has completed an exhaustive study of radium-bearing deposits there. M. LaCroc says that millions probably are there awaiting to reward the patient searchers who are able to start out with the proverbial shoe string as far as finances are concerned, but it is recommended that intending prospectors take along a few camera dry plates, developing outfits and, if possible, a gold leaf electroscope, although the latter is not absolutely essential.

The principal radioactive mineral in Madagascar is known as betaphite and is brownish-black in color with irregular radium content. But even if only one milligram is obtained from each ton of mineral examined, it will mean 200 francs to the prospector, while certain deposits are so rich as to assay as high as 15,000 francs a ton.

Patching the Czar's Trousers.
In his recently published memoirs Count Witte, a member of the old Russian regime, relates that Alexander III's prudence in government expenditure was matched by his personal thrift: "Alexander III was extremely economical with his wearing apparel. I had a curious proof of this when I accompanied the emperor on one of his railway trips. Since I found it impossible, on account of my responsibility, to sleep of nights, I would often catch glimpses of his majesty's valet mending the emperor's trousers. On one occasion I asked him why he didn't give his master a new pair instead of mending the old so often. 'Well, I would rather have it that way,' he answered, 'but his majesty won't let me. He insists on wearing his garments until they are threadbare. It is the same with his boots.'"

Huge Stone in Roosevelt's Honor.
The greatest chunk of stone ever quarried or transported in the United States or anywhere else on earth is going to be hewn and brought to Washington for the monumental Theodore Roosevelt national memorial. The memorial is to take the form of a lion, some 36 by 40 feet in dimensions, and it is to be carved by Carl Ethan Akeley out of a solid block of rock. Where the stone is to come from appears not yet to be determined. One authority suggests it may be necessary to build a special railroad and equipment to bring it to Washington. The memorial will be the biggest job in stone. It is said, since the sphinxes were set up on the plains of Egypt.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Floats for Boats.
S. E. Van Horn of Manhasset, N. Y., is the inventor of a scheme for making boats unsinkable. The safety boat is provided with a couple of umbrellas of rubberized fabric, one on the port and the other on the starboard side, attached to the gunwale by a sort of outrigger.

When not in use the umbrellas are collapsed and take up little room, the outriggers being swung alongside of the craft, out of the way. But in case of danger the outriggers are hastily swung outward into position, the umbrellas spreading automatically.

Harrowing Experience.
"What's the trouble?" asked the second assistant sporting editor. "I've just had a call from a woman who had written some 'free verse,'" said the Sunday editor, who was shaking all over. "That ought not to upset you." "Ah!" groaned the Sunday editor. "But she read it to me and threw in a lot of gestures."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

FARMER OWES MUCH TO MULE

Animal is Hard and Rugged Worker and Almost Indispensable in Many Localities.

The mule, like everybody else, has his place. He is considered a bad actor. Fathers caution their sons about going near any animal with long ears and rumpy tail. The sons know what the animal will do because they have been looking over the "funny paper" each Sunday and were delighted in seeing the mule fold up and let loose with a kick that sent a man through the side of a barn or over the fence. But in spite of this undesirable advertising the mule is with us today on more farms than ever before. He is a hard and rugged worker and is especially adapted to the more hilly farms of our agricultural sections. Even through the Middle West there are some counties that have more mules than horses. In 1867, the mules of the United States numbered 822,000, with an average value of $66.94. In 1890 the number was 2,321,000, valued at $78.25. By 1914 the number had increased to 4,123,000, with a value of $119.84 per head. On January 1, 1920, the number was 4,995,000 and the value per head was $147.

The mule has gained rapidly in popularity, in many localities taking the place of the horse, and has also prevented the introduction of the tractor in many places. There are not a few mule ranches over the United States, the owners finding it a paying kind of stock to raise. The demand is increasing and those having them for sale cannot supply the market.—Thrill Magazine.

CONDEMN TERM "FAIR SEX"

English Women Go on Record as Opposed to Phrase "Belonging to a Bygone Age."

It has been officially declared in England that women, en bloc, are neither "weak" nor "fair." At least the Women's Freedom league, under the leadership of Councillor Margaret Hodge, has put a ban on the terms "fair sex" and "weaker sex." "Spinster" and "mother-in-law" have also been put on the feminine index. Further, it is averred, once and for all time that: Woman's judgment is as good as man's.

Women talk less than men. Women can keep a secret. "One irritating custom," said Miss Hodge, "comes from an age when to be fair was woman's first and foremost duty. The only women who counted were for ornament rather than for use. Women may be the weaker sex physically, but certainly not morally. The name mother-in-law is still the standby of farces and comic literature. It is an idea from some bygone age."—London Chronicle.

Chinese Art.
The applicability of Chinese art for interior decoration of any period is being strikingly illustrated in a recent gallery opening in New York. The idea that anything Chinese is gaudy is being gradually displaced. In the carving of gems, the working of metal and in tapestry designs the Chinese are without rivals. The owner of the new gallery has fitted up half a score of rooms in period designs—there is the old French and English, the American colonial, the early Italian and the Holland rooms. Fitting snugly into the general tone of the room are marvels of Chinese craftsmanship in the form of hangings, carved woodwork, tapestry and lamps. It is a revelation to many and has a new conception of Chinese craftsmanship.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Big Task.
One of the big causes of delay in the movement of freight is the heating of the journal boxes of car axles, commonly called "hot boxes." When one journal box in a train gets seriously hot it is necessary to stop the whole movement of traffic until the condition can be remedied. This makes very timely a series of tests now being carried on at Purdue university, to determine accurately the benefit to be derived by using ventilated lids instead of the solid lids now almost universally used on the axle journals. The tests consist of eight-hour runs with heavy loads at high speed, during which accurate records are kept of the temperature attained in each class of apparatus.

Perfume Hunters.
There seems to be no good reason why in this country the gathering of sweet-smelling herbs and flowers for the perfumery trade might not be found profitable. It has recently become a considerable industry in rural parts of England, a great many women and children having taken it up.

In April the picking of cowslips begins, those flowers being in demand as a cure for sleeplessness, and also for "potpourri" and sachets. Broom and elder flowers follow. Mullein and mallow, bergamot, peony petals, rose petals and red poppy petals bring good prices; likewise raspberry leaves, sage, mint, balm and thyme.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Telephone Statistics.
Telephone wires in the United States have reached the enormous total length of 22,827,188 miles, the new government census reveals. There are 11,716,520 telephones, connected through 53,234 organized systems or lines. The total number of messages in 1917 was 21,845,722,335, or 211 per capita.

NORUMBEGA PARK

Norumbega Park is now finishing its most successful season in the history of the park. Business this season has been in many instances 100 per cent greater than anything in the past. All this success is due to the careful management of Mr. Carl Alberte, who seems to understand the tastes of his particular clientele. Always making an effort to secure the best feature photoplays that are released. The same principles apply to his selection of vaudeville for the stage. For this week he has that eccentric bicycle comedian, Joe Wallace who finished the beginning of this season a two years' engagement at the New York Hippodrome as headliner. Three other acts of vaudeville importance will complete the stage part of the program, and for the first three days will be seen the super feature photoplay "Partners of the Tide," taken from the great J. C. Lincoln novel of the same name. For the last three days will be featured "The Wakefield Case." This picture has created a sensation wherever it has been shown, and is one of the latest releases now being shown throughout the country.

The other park attractions are still being heavily patronized as well as the popular priced restaurant, dancers, afternoon and evenings.

Curious Compromise.

When South Africa became federated, ten years ago, a controversy as to the capital city was settled by one of the most curious compromises in history. Pretoria became the administrative and Cape Town the legislative center. So United South Africa has two capitals, which are almost exactly 1,000 miles apart.—Brooklyn Eagle.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT S. S. ASSO. NEWS

Herman Foster of Auburndale is attending the Older Boys' Camp-Conference at Lake Winnepesaukee, N. H. This conference is called "The Camp of the Four-Fold Life," and is conducted each summer by the Young People's Committee of the International Sunday School Association. About 175 young men, between 15 and 22, representing all states along the Atlantic seaboard, from Maine to Florida, are attending this camp. This Camp-conference is a place for both recreation and training—the program is a skillful and attractive blending of work and play into a comprehensive scheme of leadership training. Those who go are always eager to return for the next summer. The Camp opened Aug. 23 and will close Sept. 5.

WHEEL FLIES OFF AND BREAKS MAN'S LEG

William F. Hahn of Nonantum place sustained a broken leg last Wednesday evening when he was struck by an automobile wheel which became detached from the machine of Alexander Maina of Nantasket avenue, while he was walking on Green Hill at Nantasket Beach. He was taken to the Nantasket police station and treated by Dr. W. F. Sturges and later removed to his home in Newton.

Nests of Cedar Bark.

A new idea for hen's nests, to keep insects out of them, is to make them of cedar bark. Bugs, as every housewife knows, strongly object to cedar. For this purpose the bark is shredded and the buds of the tree may be included with it.

AN APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE OF NEWTON

We are asking for your help to enable us to establish a community center in West Newton, a place where we shall try to direct and develop boys and girls for larger and more useful service in life. Having been pastor of the Mt. Zion Baptist Church for over four years, I have studied conditions; and have seen a crying need for a place of this kind. In this house which shall be known as the Newton Community House we hope to have various classes of practical studies, Boy Scouts, Baby Hygiene, Employment Bureau, and a home for working girls, a place where youths can spend a social hour together in a high moral and ethical atmosphere.

As I believe that money spent, and care given to the right forming of youths is not to be compared with the expense and worry of reforming them; and if they are formed right they will not need to be reformed, so I make this earnest appeal to the people of the Newtons that they may help me to save the boys and girls of my race. Now you can do this by giving me your support; and I will assure you that this proposed house will raise the standard, and do much to suppress an existing condition.

Big Drive Saturday, September 10, 1921, on which day I trust everybody in the Newtons will give something towards this great movement for good.

HALL-MANN

In the parlor of the Newton Club Thursday afternoon, Aug. 25, Miss Emily Jane Mann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Mann, of Harvard Street, Newtonville, was married to Mr. Stuart Gregory Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hall of Brookline.

The ceremony which was performed by the Rev. W. E. Strong of Newtonville was attended by the immediate families and was followed by a wedding supper at the Newton Club.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The bridesmaid was Miss Lois Graham of Dorchester.

The best man was Mr. Dudley Lester of Newton Centre.

The bride wore a gown of pale-pink net with lace and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. The bridesmaid more apple-green organdie, trimmed with roses and grey and carried sweetheart roses.

The bride is a graduate of the Newton Classical High School, Class of '18. After an extended wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Hall will reside at 162 Warren street, Brookline.

A Hair Problem.

On the average head there are a thousand hairs to each square inch. Find out the number of square inches in your scalp and you will soon know the approximate number of hairs on it, that is, if you have a normal head of hair.

Water Power Development.

If the falls of Niagara were fully utilized it has been estimated they would supply energy equal to 7,000,000 horsepower, while on the upper Mississippi 2,000,000 such units of work should be available.

NEWTON OPERA HOUSE

When George Melford's latest Paramount production, "A Wise Fool," comes to the Newton Opera House next Monday and Tuesday, the public will see one of the strongest casts ever assembled for a photoplay. James Kirkwood, an eminent screen actor and director, is the featured player.

As the erratic Jean Jacques Barville, the hero of Sir Gilbert Parker's original novel, of which the picture is an adaptation, Mr. Kirkwood has a most delightful and entertaining role. Alice Hollister, a delightful actress, has the leading woman's role. Ann Forrest, who played the principal feminine role in "The Faith Healer," is seen as Zoe Barville. Alan Hale is excellent as Masson, and Fred Huntley as Sebastian Dolores, a scoundrelly Spanish exile, provokes amusement by his rascality. Edward Sutherland has the leading juvenile role and Truly Shattuck, a once famous comic opera star, plays Virginia Poutette. The cast is completed by Harry Duffield, Charles Ogle, John Herdman and Lillian Leighton. Sir Gilbert Parker and George Melford collaborated on the scenario and William Marshall was cameraman.
